Sen. Taft Arrives for Address In City

Speaks To 350 At Luncheon

Crawford Talks Cancelled

Senator Robert A. Taft, who will hold the spothght in the U. S. senatorial elections next year, came to Mansfield today to address an overflow crowd of about 350 at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Arriving shortly before noon from Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm where he spent the night, Taft was scheduled to speak at a joint luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs. He said he would talk on "Socialized Medicine."

He planned meetings with other Mansfielders at the hotel early in the afternoon. Later in the day he will leave for Washington to be on hand for important legislation before the senate.

Sen. Taft will be unable to make two scheduled appearances in Crawford county tomorrow, Franklin Roelle, chairman of the Bucyrus Taft club, announced today. The senator was to speak in Bucyrus and Galion.

The Ohioan said it would be impossible for him to leave Washington Friday because of the possibility of the senate's concluding its sessions Saturday.

Mrs. Taft is expected to arrive in Galion tomorrow from her home in Cincinnati. She will speak at the opening meeting of the Galion Business and Professional Women's Club at the American Legion home tomorrow evening.

The senator's wife will be introduced by Mrs. W. W. Wheatcraft, Galion, chairman of the Crawford County Republican executive committee.

The meeting is open to the public. Reservations for the dinner at 6:30 p. m. can be obtained at the Galion Auto Club.

Mercury Dips To 39

Autumn returned to Mansfield today, bringing light frost with it.

The mercury slipped 33 degrees in six hours last night and early this morning, finally stopping at 39 at 6 a. m.

Cleveland, Perry, Findlay and Youngstown reported lows of 38, coolest recorded in the state.

Meanwhile, the weatherman predicted a warm-up today. He said the mercury would climb toward the 70-degree mark throughout the state and that sunshine and blue skies would brighten Ohio.

Mansfield's low temperatures, which skidded from a 72-degree reading at midnight, was blamed on a lack of wind and clear skies. A light frost which left a face of white on bushes and garden crops this morning accompanied the drop.

Fair and cool weather is expected tomorrow with a low of between 40 and 45 predicted for tonight. Some frost is expected to occur, but not severe enough to cause damage to remaining crops.

Orr Wins '49 Nobel Award

OSLO, Norway — (AP) — Lord Boyd Orr, a bushy-browed Scotsman who believes wars can be prevented by creation of a world federal government and raising more food to prevent hunger, is the winner of the Nobel peace prize for 1949.

The Norwegian parliament's Nobel committee announced the award last night. Boyd Orr is a food expert and practical farmer. He formerly headed the United Nations Food and Agricultural organization.

No Nobel peace prize was given in 1948. The 1947 prize went to the American Friends (Quakers) Service committee and the Friends Service council, London.

BEN W. FORKNER

Forkner Succumbs

Ben W. Forkner, 137 Stewart avenue, purchasing agent for the Ohio Brass company and a director of Ohio Brass company, died at General hospital early this morning, following a brief illness.

He was born in Anderson, Ind., and came to Mansfield in 1905 when he became associated with the Ohio Brass company.

After being graduated from the University or Michigan, Mr. Forkner served as principal of a high school in Pendleton, Ind. He gave up teaching to accept a position in the purchasing department of the Indiana Union Traction company, Indianapolis, Ind., which he held until he came to Mansfield.

Mr. Forkner had served as purchasing agent of the Ohio Brass company since 1913.

He was interested in numerous civic activities, but his church work was his principal interest outside his business activities. He was a charter member of the Central Methodist church and served as Sunday school superintendent of the church for many years.

He was one of the organizers and a past president of the Men's Brotherhood of the church and a member of the church board of trustees.

Mr. Forkner's civic activities included active participation in Boy Scout activities. He was one of the founders of Boy Scout work here and had served as an official in the movement since 1917.

In honor of his work in the Boy Scout organization, he was presented the Silver Beaver award, highest award in scouting.

He served as president of Johnny Appleseed council from 1927 to 1928, was a member of the executive board of the council, and served on the finance committee for many years.

He also served as president of the YMCA board and was secretary of the board for a number of years. During World War I he was chairman of the YMCA boys' work committee and organized boys in Richland county in a Liberty bond-selling campaign.

Mr. Forkner was a member of the Chamber of Commerce and Mansfield Lodge No. 35, F. and A. M.

Surviving are his wife, Bessie Lea White Forkner; and two grandsons, William Lea Forkner, and Donald Maxwell Forkner, both of Rockford, Ill. A son Frederick Forkner, died Nov. 22, 1946.

Funeral arrangements tentatively set for Saturday, will be announced later. Friends may call at the Finefrock funeral home.

Coal Leaders Resume Talks

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — (UP) — John L. Lewis, northern and western operators met again today to make another try at breaking the unyielding deadlock over the miners' welfare fund, but there were no indications that a settlement was in sight.

The operators reportedly were ready to take the dispute back to Washington for government mediation. U. S. Mediation Chief Cyrus S. Ching promised quick action if the operators and union were unable to make "substantial progress."

Lewis, entering the conference for the first time since Ching ordered another effort at ending the 25-day strike through negotiations, refused comment on the situation.

Roseland Project Stymied

Group Raps Incorporation

BY ROBERT SCHWEITZ

A determined and vocal opposition last night temporarily stymied efforts of a committee to incorporate the Roseland area. About 500 prsons attended a meeting on the incorporation plan at Roseland school.

The meeting, called by Harry Simpson, chairman of a committee on corporation, was characterized by continued bickering between those who are in favor of incorporation and the opposition.

The incorporation question arose several weeks ago when residents of the Hanna road area and Country Club No. 3 allotment, in which an epidemic of intestinal disease was concentrated this summer, met to find a way to get a pure water supply and an adequate sewage disposal system.

Eight infants died in a period of 60 days of the disease which sprang from contaminated water and inadequate sewage facilities in the Hanna road area, health officials said.

Chief opponents to the incorporation were inhabitants of Country Club No. 1 allotment and other suburbs in which pure water is now available.

These opponents took the position that their tax load would be increased if they went into the corporation to aid the Hanna

Police Cut Their Costs

Chief Limits Use of Cruisers

Lack of funds which has been hampering most city departments has spread to the police department.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab said he has issued orders to the department's night shifts that only one cruiser is to be used at nights except in case of emergencies.

The chief said he will ask council for more money for operation of police cars at the next regular council meeting.

Meanwhile, the department will attempt to economize by driving less at nights.

The chief said he would have figures on the expense of operating the police cars when he meets with council.

Some of the police cars are getting old and cost more to operate than the new cars, the chief said.

The department is using one 1942 model cruiser. The other three cruisers are newer. One is two years old and two are 1949 models.

Agency Under Fire

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A congressional committee's condemnation of the way the Maritime commission has handled millions in federal funds set off demands today for new curbs on the agency.

MALABAR GUESTS—Sen. Robert A. Taft, right, and his cousin, David S. Ingalls, Cleveland GOP leader, view Louis Bromfield's acres in the morning sunlight. They were guests at Malabar farm last night before coming to Mansfield where Sen. Taft spoke at noon today.

Senator Sees Malabar Farm

Many Unionists Like T-H Law, Taft Says

By MARGARET MATTOX

"A very substantial part of labor union membership favors the Taft-Hartley law," amiable Sen. Robert A. Taft, co-author of the controversial bill, said today.

The smiling senator, apparently a little weary from his busy speaking schedule and commuting from Ohio to Washington, strolled on the lawn at Louis Bromfield's Malabar farm, where he was a guest overnight.

He arrived at Malabar about 1 a. m. from a speaking engagement in Wooster and was scheduled for a talk at noon today at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. He will go back to Washington tonight by plane.

He was accompanied by his cousin, David S. Ingalls, Cleveland Republican leader and director of Pan-American World Airways.

"We have received lots of individual letters of support from labor representatives," Taft explained. "Many people from labor's ranks have come up with promises of support — we have lots of support from many labor groups."

Asked about Ohio farmers' refusal to join labor in the 1950 senatorial campaign, the senator said:

"There has never been any sympathy between the Ohio farmers and labor organizations. Farm organizations themselves have never taken any active part in politics," he said.

FARMERS FRIENDLY

He flashed a quick smile as he added, "But Ohio farmers have never stayed away from the polls as far as the Republicans were concerned. Farmers have always been very friendly to me."

The senator was firm in his belief that federal taxes should be removed from oleo, stating that he could see no reason why special taxes should be levied on certain foods, when the law for which he had voted provides several penalties against fraudulent representation of oleo as butter.

He thinks the U. S. should keep occupation forces in Germany for a long time. He said it would be necessary for us to provide control of the German steel and munitions for many years.

"This doesn't mean the same occupation forces as now, however", the senator explained. "But occupation should continue indefinitely, subject to the Russian situation."

Sen. Taft refused comment on the question of whether he considered large aircraft carriers obsolete, stating, "I don't know enough about the Army-Navy controversy over that question", and laughingly suggested the question might be better answered by Ingalls, who had served with the U. S. Naval Reserve during World War II.

Questioned about what the average American can do to stem the drift to a socialist state, besides expressing himself at the polls, Sen. Taft answered:

"I would suggest that he think and talk the subjects over fully, join organizations in which the officers can talk along the lines he favors", he said.

"Of course all people can't go into politics", he said, "but they can read their newspapers with care and learn both sides of any issues", Sen. Taft said.

"Or better yet, he can join a Taft committee!"

Doctor Found Dead

GARDENA, Cal. — (INS) — The body of a Long Beach, Cal., physician who had been beaten to death was found early today a short distance from a Gardena card club he had patronized a few hours before. The victim was identified by police as Dr. Donald Bugg, 45.

More Voters Now Eligible

City Registration Shows Rise of 29

The number of controversial issues which will face Mansfield and Richland county voters in November has brought out a record number of registrants this year according to figures released today by Board of Elections Clerk Thomas R. Zeigler.

There were 19,791 registrants in Mansfield and 3,216 in Madison township. The Mansfield figure is 29 more than last year's despite the fact that voting is usually heavier in presidential elections.

Madison township's registration is below that of 1948 by 603 but there are not as many issues to be decided in the township.

Ward by ward, the registration in the city follows: First ward, 4,759; Second, 4,068; Third 4,011; Fourth, 1757; Fifth, 2,059; Sixth, 3137.

Besides a hot mayoralty race, Mansfielders will pick three members for the school board out of nine candidates. They will decide whether they want a new charter for the city and will pick 15 men to serve on the charter commission. The fate of the proposed council manager plan for the city hinges on that ballot.

Councilmen and several city officials also will be chosen in the balloting.

County issues include the $800,000 bond issue for a courthouse annex, the levy for the tuberculosis sanatorium, and in Madison township the election of trustees.

Controversies on the state ballots include the fight over colored oleomargarine, and the office type ballot.

Plans Divorce

HOLLYWOOD — (AP) — Former child star Shirley Temple has consulted Attorney George Stahlman about a probable divorce action against Actor John Agar, whom she married four years ago, the lawyer announced today.

Lock of Hair Raises Hopes Of Mother

HASTINGS, Mich. — (UP) — A lock of baby hair may help a distraught mother learn whether a blue-eyed ward is her son, kidnaped from his crib five years ago by a newly-hired nursemaid.

Mrs. Anna Thompson, Dexton, said she was certain that little Tommy O'Neill actually was her child, Ronnie, stolen from the Thompson home in October, 1944.

Barry county authorities, heeding her tearful plea, agreed to send a lock of Tommy's hair to Lansing for scientific comparison with a strand of Ronnie's, carefully preserved in a photograph album.

Rival Farm Bills Face Hot Fight

Senate Approves Flexible Supports

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Two determined groups—each vowing it will not yield—began a struggle today as the rival House and Senate farm bills went to a conference committee for compromise efforts.

House Agriculture Chairman Cooley (D) N. C., who will head House conferees, said his group never will accept the Senate-passed flexible-floor measure with supports ranging from 75 to 90 per cent.

The House conferees, he said, will accept nothing short of repeal of the Aiken flexible-supports act, and a permanent 90 per cent program for basic commodities.

Sen. Aiken (R) Vt., said the Senate conferees will be, if anything, even more adamant for the Anderson sliding-scale measure.

Aiken pointed out that unless the House yields—at least far enough to strike a deal with the Senate—the Aiken act, with slightly lower sliding-scale floors than the Anderson bill provides, will become effective Jan. 1.

Aiken and Sen. Thye (R) Minn., another conferee, predicted that final settlement will come with House action overriding its own conferees.

Cooley said that the House "has taken a definite position for repeal of the Aiken act and for 90 percent supports." He added: "I don't see how the conferees can accept anything else.

"We have voted salary increases for government employes, for high officials, and for the armed services. We voted to increase the minimum wage. "I don't see how we can vote lower wages for the farmer."

Elderly Romeo Out On Bail, Swings Fists

CHICAGO — (UP) — Sigmund Engel, who claims to have wooed and swindled scores of women, demonstrated jealously for his one and only "true wife" today after ending a three-month stay in jail.

The 72-year-old Romeo won sweet—if not permanent—freedom when his attorney, J. Edward Jones, posted $100, the last of $50,000 in seven bonds, to insure Engel's court appearances on state and federal charges.

Then Engel fought with his lawyer over an unpleasant condition of his freedom. Jones insisted that Engel be under constant guard because property of Jones' father, Charles, was pledged to get him out of jail. Engel objected to the extent of fist swinging because this would "interfere with plans for making love to my wife."

British Won't Hold Election

LONDON — (INS) — British Prime Minister Clement Attlee announced today that his Labor government has decided against holding general elections this year.

A statement issued by the premier's press office told the nation:

"Having regard to the disturbing effects on trade and industry and on the national effort by the continuance of speculation as to an early general election, the premier thinks it right to inform the country of his decision to not advise his majesty to dissolve parliament this year."

Bomber Cracks Up In Field

Carried Load Of Live Bombs

ISLEHAM, Eng. — (AP) — A U. S. Air Force B-50 bomber with a load of live bombs dived into a wheat field today and exploded with a roar heard 12 miles away. All 12 crew members were killed.

The plane, designed as the atom-bomb carrying version of the B-29, was on a 180-mile practice mission to the North sea island of Helgoland with twelve 500-pound bombs.

Villagers said the plane appeared to burst into flames just before it dropped through a light ground fog and struck the field. Flaming bits of the four-engined craft were blown hundreds of yards in all directions from the huge central crater dug by the blast.

BUILDINGS SET AFIRE

Burning gasoline set fire to a ring of farm buildings and to 60 tons of stacked wheat. Windows shattered and plaster ceilings fell in Isleham houses. Fire equipment was summoned from nearby Newmarket, 60 miles northeast of London, and from Cambridge, Mildenhall and Oxfordham.

U. S. Air Force headquarters in London confirmed that the plane which crashed was one of a group of B-50s recently flown to Britain for duty at Sculthorpe airfield in neighboring Norfolk county.

The bomber plowed into wheat stacks and caught fire. Its load of high octane gasoline exploded. The blast was heard in Newmarket 10 miles away.

Miss Dorothy Brown, who works in a nursing home near the scene of the crash, said she saw the plane burst into flames before it dived into the ground. Several other villagers gave the same account.

Flames spread to nearby farm buildings and haystacks. The plane quickly burned to a skeleton.

A Royal Air Force rescue squadron from Mildenhall station went to the scene to help recover the bodies.

An ambulance service spokesman said the explosion ignited 60 tons of straw in the field.

An RAF officer placed a guard around the remains of the plane to keep the curious away from secret equipment.

The U. S. Air Force has approximately 5,000 men in Britain at bases established after the Russians began their blockade of Berlin.

U. S. Senate Spurns Olds

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A smarting 53 to 15 defeat on the reappointment of Federal Power Commissioner Leland Olds today handed President Truman his third — and sharpest — Senate rebuff this year on an important nomination.

Despite the pressure of party discipline which Mr. Truman marshalled behind the nominee, the Senate refused overwhelmingly to return Olds to the commission for a third term.

The vote came shortly after midnight. It followed weeks of debate which steadily mounted in heat and bitterness.

Opponents shouted that Olds is a foe of capitalism, that 20 years ago he wrote articles that helped promote communism.

Senator Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo) called him "a warped, hypocritical, mischievous, egotistical chameleon whose predominant color is pink."

The Council Manager Plan

Success of System Rests On Council Integrity

(Editor's Note: The following is the second in a series of articles to inform Mansfielders about the charter question that will appear on the November ballot.)

★

By GAYLORD HAKE

The Council-Manager plan of municipal government is an attempt to give the city a business-like administration and remove the operation of the city from political interferences.

One of its major provisions is a hired city manager to replace the elected mayor.

The city manager — trained to perform the administrative duties in the operation of the city by both education and experience — is appointed by city council.

The city manager remains in office as long as city council is satisfied with the job he is doing. If the residents of the city are not satisfied with the city manager they can appeal to council. City councilman who do not carry out the wishes of the people can be defeated at the polls.

In a council-manager system, city council remains as the policy making body. However, the city manager can make his recommendation to council.

The success of the system, obviously, depends upon the calibre and integrity of the elected councilmen.

The city manager's prime duty is to administrate the projects which city council decides are needed.

A city manager supervises all of the department heads. If he wishes to advance in his chosen career, he must do a good job. If he is to be a successful manager, he must select department heads on merit, rather than as political appointments.

City managers prepare themselves by education for the job of operating a city. To obtain a job as city manager in a city of Mansfield's size, possibly a city manager would be required to have proven his ability as manager of another city.

Salary of a city manager of a community of Mansfield's population class would be about $12,000 a year. Dayton, pays its manager $25,000 and Piqua, a community of about 18,000 population pays its manager $9,000.

A city manager system has possible shortcomings. A manager, if he isn't capable can become a glorified clerk for council. Council has the power to fire the manager, and an inept manager may hold his job by appeasing council. An elected mayor, on the other hand, can buck council and carry his policies directly to the people who elect him.

Proponents of the council-manager system readily admit it doesn't guarantee good government but they say it makes good government possible and natural.

5 Danger Spots On City Area Roads Cited By State Patrolmen

'Hazard Zones' In State Listed

By MARGUERITE MILLER

Richland county's rural crossings aren't listed among the most dangerous in the state but the "trouble spots" are taking a heavy enough toll of limb and life.

"Trouble spots" is the term state highway patrolmen of the Mansfield post give to Trimble road and U. S. Route 30-N; to States Routes 96 and 178; to Bowman street road and State Route 96; and to the two narrow bridges on U. S. Route 42, south of Lexington.

Two persons lost their lives last year at Bowman street road and State Route 96. Accidents at the 96 and 178 intersection, five miles east of Shelby, are averaging two or three a month

Patrolmen said they "count on" five to eight accidents a month in the narrow bridges south of Lexington. Last month the accident toll there hit a record high of 10 mishaps. So far there have been no fatalities on the bridges, but patrolmen say it's been close. Some "very bad" personal injuries have resulted from side-swipes in the crowded passageways

"Motorists don't want to drive too near the bridge railing for fear they'll hit it, and as a result crowd over too far onto the bridge If there's another car in the bridge, the autos sideswipe," patrolmen said.

TOO CARELESS

It's just negligence at the other crossings, patrolmen said. Motorists don't observe the stop signs.

A campaign for a traffic light at U. S Route 30-S and the Lexington-Ontario-Shelby road in Ontario is under way, led by Mrs. Mable Payton, whose son, Noel, 16, was killed at the intersection Jan 27, 1948 Patrolmen said 17 accidents, none too serious, have occurred there since the first of the year.

On a state-wide scale, the state highway department ranks the intersection of State Routes 183 and 246 west of Toledo the "most dangerous in rural Ohio for motorists."

Motor vehicles have collided there 51 times in the past three years. The total doesn't include 1949.

The worst county highway crossing was U S. Route 25 and Dorothy Lane about one and a half miles south of Dayton Twenty-five crashes occurred there.

The intersections are two of the 179 places termed "high frequency accident locations" by the department's Division of Traffic and Safety Ten or more accidents have occurred at those listed in a three-year period

Most of them are state and U S. route crossings. Forty-eight are where state routes meet county roads. The others are railroad crossings, under and over-passes and highway bridges.

86 HAVE LIGHTS

Eighty-six of the worst intersections have traffic lights, 28 of them placed this year. The highway department plans to install a score or more during the balance of the year.

"Traffic lights help reduce accidents but they aren't the sole answer," says Harry J. Neal, head of the Traffic and Safety division.

"They cut collision of cars at right angles, but not necessarily those involving head-on, rear-end or left-turn accidents.

"We are working to increase the distance motorists can see at intersections but some crossings will have to be redesigned for real safety," Neal said

Permanent or painted islands help keep traffic in lans and prevent corner cutting, Neal explained to illustrate what he meant by road design.

Lucas county has several dangerous intersections in addition to the 183-246 crossing. Forty accidents occurred where U. S. 24 rosses route 568 north of Toledo. There were 14 crashes in 1946, 17 in 1947 and nine in 1948. At the 183-246 intersection, the totals were six in 1946, 19 in 1947 and 26 last year.

Other dangerous Lucas county intersections with their three-year accident totals· Routes 20 and 333 southwest of Sylvania, 20; U. S 20 and 102 southwest of Sylvania, 33, U S 20 and 2 north of Maumee, 36; U. S 23 and 568 north of Toledo, 24, U. S. 24 and U. S. 25 north of Toledo, 34; Routes 1-2 and 183 west of Toledo, 30, 183 and 568 northwest of Toledo, 14; U S 223 and 183 northwest of Toledo, 24 There were 11 accidents where U S. 20 crosses New York Central railroad tracks a half mile north of the junction with route 2.

MAJ. WILLIAM A. JONES Salvation Army head.

★ ★ ★ Californians Get Timely Help On Moving To City

It had been a long trip for the young parents and their three small children, driving from California to Ohio.

But they hadn't minded because they were en route to Mansfield where the father had been promised a job something he hadn't been able to find in California after the plant in which he worked, had been closed down.

They had nearly reached their destination when the old-model car they were driving developed engine trouble. The car was towed into a garage and when they finally were able to continue on to Mansfield they had spent nearly all their money for the repair bill.

On arriving here they located lodgings for their family, but the rent was to be paid in advance. They had no friends to whom they could turn for help, so the mother called on Maj. and Mrs. William A. Jones at the Salvation Army and explained the situation.

They received the money for the rent from the Salvation Army, and the following day the father reported for work

Everything seemed to be working out fine for the family until three weeks later the father was taken ill. Once again they appealed to the Salvation Army, and once again Maj. and Mrs. Jones came to their aid with groceries and money for the rent, as well as warmer clothing for the youngsters, two girls, aged five and seven, and a three-year-old boy.

That was early this past summer and recently Mrs. Jones met the young mother downtown and learned they have been able to move into a larger house and the future is begining to offer great hopes to the family.

These and many similar cases are part of the work carried on by the Salvation Army in Mansfield, a Red Feather agency of the Community Chest.

The apple crop of Washington State represents approximately one-seventh of the nation's apple yield.

Canadians Will Not Cut Newsprint Export Price

OTTAWA —(UP)— The government has told Canadian newsprint producers they should not reduce the export price of their product because of the recent devaluation of the Canadian collar, it was learned yesterday.

American and Canadian publishers were meeting with producers' representatives in Quebec City to discuss prices.

The U. S. consumers intended to press for the reduction, it was said. However, it was learned, the government felt producers should hold to present prices.

Authorative sources agreed that the price factor was one of paramount importance in the present conferences but Rielle Thompson of the Newsprint Association of Canada said that this angle was not entering into formal discussions.

A reduction in prices, the government felt, would defeat the purpose of the government's devaluation policy. Which was to increase the flow of U. S. dollars into Canada. A $5 per ton cut in newsprint prices would cost the country approximately $20,000,000 in U. S. funds, government spokesmen said.

Finance department officials kept a close watch on the Quebec City meeting, which they describe as "critical."

The meeting was to review not only the rice situation, but world newsprint demand. Canadian mills will plan their production for the coming year in the light of the Quebec meeting's findings.

Hazards of a Letter Carrier's Life

Cats, Snakes Surprise Poor Postman

By JAMES W. HART

PITTSBURGH — (UP) — A mailman's life is never dull, according to Charles F. Musiol, general foreman of the post office claims - inquiry department here.

Musiol bases his claim on the variety of items plucked from the green street boxes each day by his staff. He is of the opinion that every mail box is a potential "Pandora's Box."

Pittsburgh has some 3,000 mail boxes within the city limits, and each gives up at least one mailed by-accident article every day.

The items range from lighted cigarettes tossed in by pranksters to snoopy cats or house-hunting turtles. Recently a postman was challenged by an irate garter snake which evidently had decided that the dark, roomy confines of the mailbox made an ideal maternity ward.

Tipplers often mistake the letter drops for thrash baskets and deposit their empty bottles for the mailman. Other folks toss half - eaten sandwiches, gum wrappers and garbage into the "convenient" boxes.

Often, a cat lover will be blessed with a litter of kittens and simultaneously cursed with the job of giving them away. An easy method, some feel, is to drop the whole family into the mail box with a note instructing the postal authorities to "find them a good home."

Other cats, just curious, manage to find their way into the box and then can't get out. As often as not, their liberator is clawed when he sticks his arm in to scoop up a batch of letters.

Another occupational hazard faced by the mailman is the possibility of being stuck by pins of costume jewelry which slips from the clothing of letter - mailing women.

Secretaries, Musiol believes, are the greatest contributors to his "collection." In their last minute haste to get rid of the mail and catch a trolley home, they dump lipsticks, false teeth, money, compacts, corn - plasters keys, spectacles and sundry oth-items into the drops.

No matter what the intruding article might be or how it got there, the postman delivers it to Musiol's department in the federal building. There it remains for 30 days, while the owner may claim it.

If unclaimed, it's shipped to the parcel post dead end department in New York. When the New York "warehouse" becomes overcrowded, an auction is held and the items are sold to the general public.

Group Balks At Project

road area. They blamed the realtor who set up the No. 3 allotment for selling land to persons without first assuring them adequate sanitary facilities.

Some said the blame should be "tossed into the lap of Mansfield," for inviting persons from rural and out-of-state areas to the city during the war to work in industry, without assuring them of living quarters.

Dr. Harry Wain, city-county health commissioner, explained to this group that the health of the entire area, including Country Club No. 1 allotment and Mansfield itself, is endangered by the unsanitary conditions in the Hanna road area. He said it was not a question of personal cleanliness, but of community cleanliness.

His plea for cooperation was made more eloquent by a Hanna road mother who rapped opponents of the incorporation. She said, "of course they don't want to help if it costs them money, but it's we who have lost our babies that need the water."

Dr. Wain led off the program with an explanation of the problem. He warned that next year if the situation is not remedied, some other disease, such as typhoid, might spread all over this area.

"I have never known of a disease that knew when it was crossing the street, or city or county limits," he said. "If we can't correct the condition we may get a disease next year that will spread like a prairie fire through the Mansfield area."

COST SET AT $12,000

City Sanitary Engineer B. V. Be Vier explained to the group that the city could extend its six-inch water main which now goes to the Empire steel employment office on Bowman street, 2,000 feet into the Hanna road area at a cost of $12,000. He pointed out that the city would do that if it were assured of enough subscribers for the water.

Be Vier said the area would have to incorporate and plan to build its own water system to hook up to the city's supply.

He cited the extension of the Bowman street line only as an emergency measure to be expanded later when the primary needs are taken care of.

The engineer hinted at county plans to put sewage and water systems throughout Madison township, but pointed out that realization of that plan is distant.

Rev. David Mann, pastor of the Hanna road church, and State District Sanitary Engineer Douglas P. Griffin, advised those who were opposed to the incorporation plan to pull out of the meeting and permit those who need the water and those who are in favor of incorporation to work out the problem themselves.

It was explained to some of the dissenters that incorporation would build up the value of their property because a sewer system, street lights, police and fire protection and other services would then be started in the sub urban area.

French Reds Blast Moch

PARIS — (INS) — The French communist party s politburo bitterly denounced premier-designate Jules Moch Wednesday and said his appointment is ' a provocation against the working class."

Moch, named by President Vincent Auriol Tuesday to form a government, is a socialist leader but a staunch anti-communist.

The communist broadside assailed what it called the "repressive methods of the Moch handling of communist-led strikes last year when he was minister of the interior.

Paris was plastered with communist posters attacking Moch and summoning workers to unite in protest against the appointment.

The communists were joined by the non-communist labor federation in condemnation of Moch who is thought to favor a freeze on wages or only a slight cost-of-living bonus.

FOUR DEAD—The estranged wife of Richard G. Finch, former Air Force colonel, his two children and mother-in-law are dead at Fort Worth, Tex., victims of close-range shots fired into their heads as they lay in bed. Dead are Mrs Elizabeth Finch, 33; daughter Penelope, 3; a son Richard, 7, (left) and Mrs Edith Walker, mother-in-law (right). Finch was visiting relatives at Ann Arbor, Mich., at the time. A pistol was found near Mrs. Walker, who had been under a physician's care.

Will Check On China

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Secretary of State Acheson told the Senate Foreign Relations committee Wednesday that Dr. Phillip Jessup will go to China to get a "personal report" on the Far Eastern crisis.

Chairman Connally (D) Tex., made public the plan for Jessup's trip after a two and one-half hour closed conference in which he said Acheson gave a "long and satisfactory report on world conditions."

Jessup, who participated in negotiations leading up to lifting of the Berlin blockade, is chairman of Acheson's Far Eastern policy review committee.

Connally said Acheson gave the committee a "very complete report on the whole problem of the Far East." He said it was particularly significant because of the current visit to Washington of Indian Prime Minister Nehru.

Senator Taft's Day In Mansfield

TODAY'S visit to Mansfield by Senator Robert A. Taft is a part of his tour of Ohio's 88 counties, and while it cannot be entirely disassociated from next year's campaign, in which he will be up for re-election to the United States Senate, it is noteworthy that no political meetings are scheduled for this tour.

As viewed by Senator Taft, "It is just as much a part of the duty of a representative or a senator to be in touch with his people and talk with them and hear their views, as it is actually to legislate on the floors of Congress."

Included in Senator Taft's talks is an explanation of why he has been favorable to some legislative matters and against others—and it is important that reasons for the determined course which the Ohio senior senator has followed be understood by the people who have chosen him to represent them in the upper house of Congress.

As Senator Taft explains: "I want to see the people and find out what they are thinking. I am elected to represent their views in Congress. I hope to meet with farmers, workmen, veterans, teachers and with every group interested in federal legislation, and discuss such legislation with them."

There will be time for presentation of political issues before the 1950 election, but as of today Mansfield welcomes Senator Taft as a distinguished American and appreciates this opportunity to hear at first hand a part of his "report to the people."

Pass the Applesauce, Please

IT'S YOUR MONEY the government is spending so you are probably considerably interested in the announcement that federal officials will pay $1.70 a bushel for apples which you can buy at anywhere from 50 cents to a dollar a bushel. The funds used to pay this over-price comes out of your paycheck, but the government feels that's all right. The planners are just taking your money and giving it to the big apple growers.

That's distribution of wealth and you ought to be thankful that we have such smart people in Washington who know how to hand out your cash.

Of course, since the government is entering the market, that will make the price of apples higher in stores and at roadside markets when you try to buy them with what is left of your paycheck.

But the big apple-growers in Ohio should not be asked to accept a low price just because there are lots of apples this year. And you shouldn't expect to get apples cheaply just because the harvest is good. The planners don't believe in that.

What about the fellow who grows only a few bushels of apples and wants to sell them? Well, the government can't very well be bothered with him. At $1.70 a bushel the government can buy many, many apples. It needs big consignments. It can't fool around with a few bushels.

The small grower can still sell to the general public. And he may get a few cents more per bushel than he would if the big grower weren't being helped to unload at a fancy profit.

So, it's all right, really. It's part of the "Welfare State" in which you pay a million or so government workers to take your money away from you and give it to somebody else.

So, pass the applesauce, please.

To Combine Fund-Raising Drives

MORE AND MORE cities are being attracted to the idea of combining the annual Red Cross membership enrollment with the Community Chest campaign, rather than continuing the heretofore required procedure of conducting a separate Red Cross solicitation.

This issue was brought to attention last year when Van Wert insisted on combining the two fund-raising activities, and similar action was taken in Pittsburgh last spring. More recently the issue came to a head in Detroit, where the Red Cross chapter was threatened with suspension because it insisted on joining a once-a-year industrial payroll deduction plan, but agreement was finally reached.

Now Cleveland Red Cross officials are studying the same type of program and the movement seems likely to spread to other cities.

Advantages of combining fund-raising activities into one annual intensive campaign have been demonstrated through years of satisfactory functioning of the Community Chest idea and there has been no apparent good reason why the Red Cross should not be a participant in this program.

Burning Leaves Dangerous 'Prank'

THOUGHTLESSNESS, rather than malicious intent, had best be accepted as explanation of the misbehavior of some schoolboys in setting fire to leaves on grass plots or raked onto the street, awaiting collection by city trucks.

There is a city ordinance, of course, against burning leaves on public thoroughfares, but the problem of promptly disposing of the leaves that fall from Mansfield's many beautiful shade trees at this season of the year is difficult of solution, as collection facilities seem inadequate to cope with the volume of leaves to be removed from residential streets.

Starting a fire in a pile of dry leaves has a natural fascination for some children, just as there are pyromaniacs among adults—but parents should have no difficulty in making a normally normal child understand the danger involved in such action—especially during observance of Fire Prevention week.

What Some Other People Are Saying

ADMIRAL W. H. P. BLANDY, commander of the Atlantic Fleet: "Some political or economic reverse might drive the aggressors to start a war, in spite of the damage they would expect to receive from our strategic bombers, now that they can pose against us a threat of a similar type."

* * *

RICHARD F. SENTNER, Assistant Vice-President of U. S. Steel: "The free and unhampered meeting of military experts with industrial leaders comprises a pillar of strength. We have an advantage over totalitarian nations that would be forced to administer industrial mobilization by edict and by dictation."

* * *

REAR ADMIRAL RALPH A. OFTSIE: "If we are now consciously to adopt a ruthless and barbaric policy towards other peoples, how can we prevent the breakdown of those standards of morality which have been a guiding force in this democracy since its inception?"

Washington Calling

Judge Bars Congressman

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WASHINGTON — One of the most remarkable cases to be heard in any court in a long time has just been argued before the circuit court of appeals in Philadelphia. The question to be decided is whether members of Congress shall have the right to go into the federal courts and act for clients in return for fees paid.

If the answer is yes, then the influence industry in Washington will take a new and bolder turn. If that practice is declared legal, there undoubtedly will be a rush to hire influential lawyer-members of Congress. Election to Congress could become a license to engage in the lucrative practice of law on the influence level.

Those who argue for the right of congressmen to go into the federal courts for fees insist that since the practice was not specifically forbidden by the Founding Fathers it must, therefore, be legal.

But I doubt that the Founding Fathers ever dreamed of a time when the elected representatives of the people would offer themselves for hire to individuals or corporations.

One thing that makes this case so extraordinary is that you have two branches of the government —legislative and judicial—carrying their dispute to an appeals court. It is a quaint example of what can happen under our system of divided powers.

The dispute began when Rep. Earl Chudoff of Pennsylvania appeared in federal district court here last May representing a client charged with sending obscene matter through the mails. The judge was James P. McGranery, former Congressman and former assistant to the attorney general.

Judge McGranery told Chudoff he would be violating the law if he appeared in court. Chudoff's reply was that other members of Congress had done the same thing and, therefore, he saw no reason why he should be forbidden.

McGranery was perfectly well aware of what Chudoff meant. A recent conspicuous instance was that of another Pennsylvanian, Rep. Francis E. Walter, now serving his ninth term in the House. Walter took a fee of $170,000 for representing stockholders in a suit against the Pennroad Corporation and the Pennsylvania railroad.

* * *

Unforeseen Situation.

BUT the judge stood his ground. Chudoff's suit is to compel McGranery and other federal judges in eastern Pennsylvania to permit him to appear in their courts.

McGranery, it seems to me, has shown great courage in refusing to be intimidated in this matter. He must himself pay any costs in connection with the suit since the judiciary is not provided with a fund to defend itself from the legislature. His attorney is Joseph W. Henderson, a former president of the American Bar association.

The curious aspect of this curious suit is that the case in which Chudoff originally wanted to appear for a client was a relatively minor one. There must be those back of Chudoff who have far more at stake and who, therefore, are determined to get a ruling that will make it all legal.

Only a few members of Congress have thus far gone into the courts for pay. But the members of Senate and House, most of whom are lawyers, would not be likely in the absence of a specific ruling to take such a step.

The relation between Congress and the judiciary is very close. Members of Senate and House judiciary committees pass on the qualifications of judges newly nominated and those raised from lower to higher courts.

Representative Walter is ranking majority member of the House judiciary committee. Obviously, if he appears in a federal court, he is not just another lawyer. Even the most upright of judges cannot help but think of his own advancement.

It is here that McGranery's courage in stading his ground is conspicuous. He will certainly not endear himself to those members of Congress who want to legalize their private law practice.

Speaking of Your Health

Fainting Is a Symptom

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

ALARMING as it is to most people, fainting is only a symptom. It may have grave or minor implications, depending on the cause. As in headache, these are numerous and varied and can be ferreted out in the individual case only by a searching examination.

For instance, one person may faint because of too little sugar in the blood, a condition known as hypoglycemia, another may faint because he is the victim of epilepsy, a disease chiefly characterized by a loss of consciousness, which may or may not be accompanied by convulsions.

In many cases, fainting is due to trouble with the heart. For example, some patients may have a heart condition, known as tachycardia, in which the heart beat is rapid but inefficient. Also, fainting attacks are not unusual in a disorder known as heart block in which the heart rate is very slow.

Damage to the heart valves may be another cause for fainting attacks, because such damage may produce narrowing of the opening through the valves so that not enough blood is pumped by the heart to the brain. Such fainting attacks usually occur after exertion.

In the neck there is a collection of nerves known as the carotid sinus. Irritation of this sinus, or pressure on it may lead to fainting attacks, in some individuals.

Fainting may develop also when there is general weakness of the heart muscle such as occurs in myocarditis, which is an inflammation of the heart musculature.

* * *

Normal Blood Pressure.

PEOPLE with this condition have a normal blood pressure when lying down but when they stand the pressure drops suddenly. This drastic fall in blood pressure sometimes brings on a fainting attack. Bandaging the legs so that the blood cannot collect there, seems to be the best treatment.

A fainting attack should never be neglected. When such an attack occurs there is need for a thorough study of a physician to determine its cause.

Thus, in many instances serious conditions may be discovered and treatment carried out to prevent any untoward effect.

Unjustified Optimism.

Biggest miscalculation in history was when civil rights were written into the Constitution, and the sponsors sighed happily, "Well, that's attended to."—Detroit News.

The Pleasures Of Fear

Returned travelers tell me that in England, in France, Germany and all over Europe nobody fears the Russians as we in America do. Somehow, we seem to have the heartiest appetite for hysteria of any people in the world.

—Grove Patterson in The Toledo Blade

Dave Boone Says:

MAN broke into Buckingham palace. I see by the papers. Things being what they are in ruling circles today, this fellow must have been especially determined to look for trouble.

* * *

Of course, it's possible too that the socialist-labor government led him astray with an "every man a king" pledge.

* * *

I see where the U. S. department of commerce announces the invention of an electric fish catcher. Two electrodes do the fishing for you. The fish turns toward the positive electrode, and the varying voltage alternately contracts and relaxes its tail so that it steers itself toward the net or hook.

* * *

That's just the trend of the times. Washington is fixing it so a fellow won't have to do any work to speak of and even when he goes fishing all the element of chance will be removed. How about federal distribution of worms, shiners and pollywogs?

Washington Merry-Go-Round

Senate Leader Lucas Blasts Barkley

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — It has been kept out of the papers, but sparks have been flying between two of President Truman's most potent congressional leaders — Vice President Barkley and Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois.

Things came to a head when the vice president, called upon to settle a tie, voted for rigid 90 per cent support of parity farm prices which the administration opposed. Senator Lucas, faced with defeat, lashed out at Barkley privately in language unprintable in a family newspaper.

"What does Barkley know about farming!" stormed the Democratic Senate leader. "He has a few tobacco farms down in Kentucky, but he knows nothing about the agricultural problems of the great west."

Lucas whose nerves are frazzled after the long and thankless job of riding herd on rebellious senators, further accused Barkley of torpedoing the farm program and embarrassing him personally.

"Who ever heard of anyone explaining his vote?" scorched Lucas, referring to the fact that the vice president, in breaking the tie, had explained that he had campaigned for parity price support. "It's unheard of in the history of the Senate."

Barkley was not present during this tirade, which was meant for private ears. But word of it got back to him and it won't help relations between the two men who are supposed to guide the Truman program through the senate.

Unhappy Admiral.

UNHAPPIEST admiral in the Navy today is probably Louis Denfeld, chief of naval operations, one of the squarest shooters ever to command a battle wagon.

Denfeld is right in the middle of the Navy-Air Force battle, a battle which he did not start. Now that it's started he is publicly siding with his brother admirals. But before it started, he expressed the private view that the Navy could better use more money for submarines and smaller airplane carriers, rather than putting all its eggs in the giant experimental airplane carrier which has now become the war cry of the admirals.

Since then, some admirals have tried to cold - shoulder Denfeld, accused him of transferring Adm. Arthur Radford out to the Pacific because he had been a contender for Denfeld's job—an accusation completely untrue.

Rows like the present flare-up are not unusual in the Navy, and the situation between Admirals Radford and Denfeld is not unlike a similar Navy fracas which harvested just as many headlines back in the Hoover administration. It illustrates the unfortunate fact that the admirals frequently put their judgment ahead of their commander-in-chief.

At that time, the admirals, who always worship bigness, were bent on building a lot of 10,000 ton, 8 - inch - gun cruisers, and refused to go along with Secretary of State Stimson on a treaty of limitation. Spearhead of the Navy attack against Stimson was salty Adm. Hilary Jones — the Admiral Radford of his day.

But siding with Stimson, and holding the same chief of naval operations job which Admiral Denfeld occupies today, was Adm. William V. Pratt. Pratt believed that smaller cruisers with 6-inch guns could fire faster, and were more effective at close range or at night.

But because he held these views Pratt was almost ostracized from the Navy. For a time his fellow admirals would not speak to him. And when he retired as chief of naval operations, almost no one was on hand to see him depart.

* * *

The Admirals Leak.

AS TODAY, the admirals arranged a series of "leaks," and threatened the resignation of Admiral Jones. As today also, various congressmen took up the cudgels and debated the pros and cons of the 8 - inch - gun and 6 - inch - gun cruiser—much to the delight of the Japanese and British navies.

Upshot of it all was that when five of the big 8-inch-gun cruisers came off the ways, they had cracked stern-posts—one of the most important parts of the ship, for on it hangs the rudder. Not only did the stern-posts have to be replaced at a cost of $150,000—paid by the taxpayer—but all the new cruisers rolled so badly it interfered with gunfire. This applied not only to the five cracked cruisers but to all of them. They had to be fitted with bilge keels and rolling tanks.

* * *

Battle of Graf Spee.

BUT it was not until the battle of the Graf Spee that Admiral Pratt, whose latter years were made miserable by his fellow admirals, was completely vindicated. In this famed battle off the River Plate, the British navy with small fast - moving 6-inch-gun cruisers was completely victorious over the 10,000-ton German cruiser carrying 8-inch guns.

What Admiral Pratt had argued in the face of almost every other admiral about speed and mobility of the small cruiser, was proved right.

And the fact that Pratt and Secretary Stimson forced the Navy into building some fast 6-inch-gun cruisers turned out to be the Navy's salvation when it came to patrolling the vast south Pacific during the recent war.

Scary Trip Up the Alps

By INEZ ROBB

ANDERMATT, Switzerland — Hannibal is an historic figure whom I have always been able to take or let lie where history flung him.

But tonight I would gladly rise and drink a toast to this intrepid Carth agenian warrior who had no more sense than to cross the Alps with elephants.

My spouse, who has just gone in search of a double martini to sooth his nerves, says Hannibal had it easy and adds darkly, "He should have tried the crossing with his wife!"

We crossed the Alps this afternoon in the Citroen we hired in Paris from the American Automobile association, after we pledged to that organization our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor.

There were moments as we wound up, up and up the Furka Pass, when I felt that the AAA had a good chance of collecting on all three.

Furka is the second highest pass in the Alps, almost 8,000 feet at its summit and only 100 feet less than St. Bernard Pass. But Furka is a much more difficult ascent, as St. Bernard Pass is populated by large dogs with kegs of life-giving spirits tied under their respective chins. However, any dog smart enough to be a bartender is too smart to hang around Furka.

Mentally, I snapped my fingers at crossing the Alps. After all, wasn't I born and reared in the Rockies? Hadn't I had truck with the Hump and the Andes? Poof to the Alps!

But pride goeth before a fall. The Furka Pass scared the liver and lights out of me. Furka is a series of endless hair pin turns carved out of the granite walls of the mountain, and carved barely wide enough for two cars to pass. I'd take oath that there isn't a straight stretch of road more than 100 feet long on either side of the pass.

Most of the time, I was looking a mile or more straight down into eternity and the Rhone river.

* * *

Hannibal's Advantage.

PART of the time, I tried to concentrate on the vast Rhone glacier, looming huge and pale green, ahead and above us. And part of the time I tried to concentrate on the incredibly beautiful source of the Rhone, where it springs, full grown, from the glacier and tumbles down the sheer rock wall of the mountain for thousands of feet.

But most of the time, I just clutched the door of the car and prayed. Once, we stopped and hugged the mountain wall to let a Swiss mail bus go by. Add, who hadn't had his eyes off the road since we entered the pass, said I looked awfully white and asked if I were ill.

"I have mal demer," I said.

"Nonsense," he said cheerfully, "people don't have mal de mer in the mountains."

"I guess I know what I have," I said crossly. "I do too have mal de mer."

"Nope," he insisted. "You're just car sick from all these hair pin turns."

We hair pin-turned the rest of the way to the top, where we stopped. Add said we had come an awfully long way to look at a genuine Alp glacier and now we ought to get out and take a good close view of one.

There was the beautiful pale green and smoke gray glacier, not 300 feet away. A little path had been chiselled out of the mountain so that one could walk to the glacier and even stand under a bit of it, as courageous sight - seers at Niagara can stand under a portion of the falls.

I staggered out of the car. I walked bravely over to the platform where a man was selling tickets for this first hand examination of the glacier.

I walked to the edge of the platform with its heavy iron railing and inadvertently looked down. I clutched the railing convulsively. There was nothing but fresh air between me and the valley almost 8000 feet below.

"I think I'm going to be sick," I said to Add.

"Good heavens!" he cried in horror, "not on the glacier!" Which explains why he thinks Hannibal had it easy with the elephants.

One Man's Opinion

—By WALTER KIERNAN

IT'S good news that the Navy has new secret equipment that can tell friend from foe . . . Now if they can get Louis Johnson to fly past they can test it.

* * *

When a friendly plane is overhead the Navy device says "Ping!" If it's an enemy plane it says "Pong!" And if it's an Air Force plane it says "Tilt!" And the tubes blow.

* * *

I don't know how far this Navy cutting is going but one fellow who got a look at the budget tells me it provides for restoration of Old Ironsides and three new canoes.

* * *

And the air force screams that its sister service is trying to chisel down the airbirds to 20 jet box kites.

* * *

But this interservice rivalry has temporarily stymied the chartmakers . . . I hear the Air Force has pulled seven men off Alaska topography and set them to studying the terra firma of Annapolis.

Down Honey Creek Way

Her 'Rice Basket'

By LOIS ADAMS BYERS

A MANSFIELD reader wrote me, "I was 82 recently. Presents are taboo. There isn't any "thing" that I need, so my family and near neighbors who know me well, brought dimes and quarters and pennies for my Rice Basket."

"What's a Rice Basket?" I wondered. Thence this story:

* * *

HE WENT into a little antique shop in Canton, China, to get some little token to bring to his wife. There was a vase that he especially wanted. He could hear his wife exclaim, "Oh, it's beautiful!" He knew just where she would place it—on the hall table. So he bought it.

When he turned to go out, he saw the small basket of rice . . . almost all the stores in that section of Canton had them. They were for the starving, who with hunger-feebled voices pleaded for food. Only a few grains to each, but a taste to fight man's worst enemy—hunger.

From store front to curb was only a few feet and a mother and child were there. He thought, first, that the woman was dead, and wanted to gently lift the child from her breast, but the mother's lips moved and he heard faintly, the cry for rice. Should he turn back the vase and buy rice? Or did one let a mother and child starve in the street—in China?

Standing about he saw other groups of hungry women and men. Little children were scattered among them. His vase would hardly give them a grain apiece. He clutched it tighter and went back to headquarters.

He had visited Chinese orphanages where, in a few weeks, children could be transformed from starving waifs into happy, fun-loving boys and pretty, wistfully friendly girls on playgrounds, in schoolrooms and workshops. Hardly one of them would have been alive had not some American cared—and given.

He kept the vase and brought it home to America. His wife put it on the table in the hall. It was beautiful, but as if in a mirror, he saw groups of hungering Chinese children, and because he was a Bible-lover he remembered, too, the One who loved little children and took them up into His arms. Hesitantly, he told a friend the incident of the purchase.

"If I were you," said this woman, mother of many children, "I'd call that vase a Rice Basket, and when my friends came to see me, I'd ask them to put in a dime to buy rice for those starving children." And so the Rice Basket idea started.

"China's Children Fund, Inc., operating 55 orphanages in China, Burma, the Philippines and Japan, has headquarters in the Atlantic Life Bldg., Richmond, Va.)

But Curly "Knows What The Score Is!"

Was over at Doc Sherman's drug store listening to the World Series on the radio Curly Lawson wanders in and says "How about a chocolate malted, Doc?"

'Sorry, Curly," says Doc "can't make you a malted for a while yet" 'What's the deal?' Curly asks "Well," says Doc 'most of the folks want to hear the game and the mixer makes too much noise" Curly thinks a moment and says, "Okay with me Doc—I'll take a chocolate soda!'

This shows how tolerant folks can be Doc showed his respect for how the majority felt Curly was big enough not to insist on his malted even though he doesn't happen to be fond of baseball

From where I sit willingness to respect the other people's feelings is important in a Democracy If we're tolerant of a person's like for baseball or a glass of temperate beer, we've come a long way on the right road . . the road to a better America, that is!

Income Tax Amendment Puts Average Citizen at Mercy of Congress

NEW YORK—I believe the people of the United States are beginning to realize that the Sixteenth amendment, the income tax amendment, to the Constitution is, in reality, a repealer of all the rest of the Constitution, which is, after all, the subject of our patriotism. This wonderful document means more to me than the buildings of New York, the beauty of the Hudson, the temperament of our people, the soil or even the flag. I believe most of us on reflection will decide likewise.

When we take oaths of office or of enlistment we swear to uphold the Constitution of the United States. I am not loyal to Harry S. Truman or the geodetic survey, to southern cooking or the Rocky mountains, but to the Constitution of the United States.

It is true that I am loyal to the United States and to the stars and stripes, but the United States could become a socialist or communist nation and retain the same title and flag.

This would be profanation and I would remain loyal to the Constitution because without it the united States and the flag would be grotesque.

ASSUMING that most of us will be of the same mind, I recall that the income tax amendment authorized Congress to collect taxes from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the states and without regard to the census. That meant simply that Congress could tax all incomes up to one hundred per cent. In other words, right now, Congress can take the entire amount of every person's earnings or profits.

Right now that Congress may and does, decide not only how much it will take out of your pay envelope, but how much you may keep. That is the more frightening way to put it. Congress today has the power to decide that you can't keep a dollar but must give it all to the tax collector.

I don't believe our people have understood this. The reason probably is mainly that the income tax didn't take much from those whom the New Dealers, with their smug and arrogant contempt for the average run of people, had the effrontery to call the common man.

The provision of the amendment that the tax money should not be apportioned among the states was a clever ruse to permit Congress thereafter to sluice money around for the purpose of buying votes. This was practiced with some restraint until Roosevelt came along and decided to shoot the works.

I have a letter from a judge of the supreme court of one of our midwestern states who says it is too bad that the people think there is no limit on the power of Congress to squander this income tax money to win votes at the next election, and on globalism.

He correctly points out that the income tax amendment did not expand the purposes for which federal funds could lawfully be expended. But he admits that billions of dollars have been spent unlawfully by Congress or with authorization from Congress, which amounts to the same thing.

When that happens, who is going to sue whom? Can the citizen sue Congress and compel these men and women to make restitution? That is out of the question.

The result now is that Congress is spending billions of dollars of this tax money for unlawful purposes and intends to go on spending thus and all this in absolute, defiant violation of the Constitution. If Congress flouts the Constitution we are sunk.

The Constitution and the men who wrote it never even considered a proposition to put the individual citizen absolutely at the mercy of Congress as this tax amendment does.

What good are your other constitutional protections if Congress has the power to take all your income and put you in jail for trying to hide some of it? When Congress does that, you are a pauper and a ward of the government.

Ensil McNabb, president of the Federation, said the program has been arranged to give Mansfielders an opportunity to see and hear the candidates and discuss proposals they will be asked to vote on in November.

Youths Held In Car Theft

Boys Apprehended In Stolen Auto

Three Massachusetts youths were held in city jail for their home-state authorities today after police arrested them last night in a stolen car near the subway on Park avenue east.

The youths admitted to police they stole the 1949 convertible in Springfield, Mass., and that they traded the spare tire and wheel for a tank of gasoline in Pennsylvania. Police picked up the youths about 7 p. m.

Two of the boys, 17 and 18 years old, live in Ludlow, Mass., they said. The other, 18, gave his address as Indian Orchard, Mass.

Meanwhile, a car stolen from the O. G. Place Auto Sales, Inc., 110 North Diamond street, Tuesday night, was recovered yesterday on East Fifth street by Ralph Roach, an employe of the auto sales firm.

Place told officers he believed the same car was driven Sunday but had been returned to the lot before it was missed.

Dem Rally Scheduled

The second in a series of Democratic rallies will be held at 7:30 p. m. today at Hedges school.

Charles O. Anglin, Democratic candidate for mayor, will talk on the condition of Mansfield's streets, especially those in the sixth ward and Woodland district.

Other candidates will be introduced at the meeting held primarily for residents of the sixth ward.

There will be refreshments.

The party's first rally was held last week at Liberty park. More than 100 persons attended that meeting.

They'll Reach California In February

Hiking Authors Visit City

By JOAN SCHWEITZ

"Across America Afoot" is the motto written on the miniature covered wagon which William and Constance Stockdale, of Putnam, Conn., are pulling across the nation. They were in Mansfield last night and early today. They camped in a tent just east of the city last night.

The wagon is for Taj Mahal, a handsome nine-month-old boxer dog who can't keep up with his rugged owners, who have been averaging 25 miles a day since they left their home state, Aug. 1

The Stockdales aren't trying to break any records. They are merely gathering material for a book they are writing about America and feel that the best way to see the country is to walk it.

However tired they are, or unhospitable the weather, the young couple has steadfastly refused to take any rides from friendly motorists.

WORK ON A BOOK

"Our book is going to be called 'Across America On Foot'," Stockdale explained, "And when we get to California, we want to have footed it every inch of the way."

Stockdale, who worked in an electrical supply shop in Putnam before he decided to write the book, and his wife, who is a registered nurse, have provided themselves with several extra pairs of shoes, sleeping bags, a portable radio, cooking facilities for camping out and a pup tent.

They usually stop their march before sunset and get permission from a farmer on the road to pitch their tent on his land for the night. The Stockdales have had no previous experience at camping out and claim that setting up a pup tent after dark is extremely difficult for them.

"We could have been to Los Angeles and back several times for the money this is costing us," Stockdale said "but we never would have seen this much of the country."

The Stockdales are trying to keep their budget down to two dollars a day. They estimate that they will walk into Los Angeles sometime in February.

They have been writing a weekly newspaper column about their experiences for three New England newspapers.

WALKING ACROSS AMERICA—William and Constance Stockdale of Putnam, Conn., as they walked down Ashland road yesterday on their way to California. With them is Taj Mahal, a nine-month-old boxer. The small covered wagon is shelter for the dog and a place to haul the Stockdale's belongings.

Declares U. N. Does 'Unexpected' Job

BY NITA BRANSON

"The United Nations is not a disappointment. It is the only way," Dr. Jaroslav Mayda, visiting lecturer at Denison university, said in Mansfield last night.

Dr. Mayda addressed members of the Mansfield Business and Professional Women's club at a dinner session at Westbrook Country club.

"The U. N. is here to stay because it provides the only way of bringing opposing powers together," he said. "It is the only alternative to war—the only chance to have world problems discussed and eventually solved by democratic means and procedures, in which we believe."

Although only 31, Dr. Mayda has achieved distinction in international law. He was secretary of the ILO, and would have represented his country, Czechoslovakia, as legad adviser for the U. N. if the communist coup had not made him a political refugee.

Thoroughly convinced that the U. N. should stay, in spite of criticism and seeming inability to do what the world expects, Dr. Mayda pointed that the U. N. was set up and geared for peace; instead it has had to deal with post-war political intrigue and the "cold war" with Russia.

'The U has been forced to serve as a forum for settling the whole aftermath of the second world war and the present state of chaos. It was not meant to do that in 1945, when organized, Dr. Mayda declared.

"The U. N. was not given the machinery in 1945 to cope with current problems. In spite of this handicap however, it has accomplished very substantial results, such as the Palestine and Indonesian truces."

Dr. Mayda cited the World Food Plan, the World Agricultural Organization, the World Health Organization, and the cultural group UNESCO. International Refuge organization and similar programs which have come out of the UN to prove that much good has been done

"Take the Human Rights Committee, for instance," he continued. "Out of that has come the international Human Rights for Women, set up in February, 1947 after 17 women delegates had met together. It encourages women all over the world to take a more active part in international affairs, to share in the peace and construction promotion and to help solve the social, economic and educational problems."

At last night's meeting, presided over by Miss Pearl Wierman, president, Al Preyer, chairman of the Citizen's Committee working on a charter form of government, spoke to the members, explaining the voting procedure which should be followed in the coming election.

Twelve new members were received into the club last night, including, Mrs. R. H. Barnes, Miss Marian Charvat, Miss Nellie Curtis, Mrs Helen S. Earhart, Mrs. Ruth N. Harbaugh, Mrs. G. W. Herring, Miss Marguerite Koerper, Mrs. Pearl P. Minnick, Mrs. J. F. Orr, Mrs. Anna Spencer, Mrs. Cleo O. Vaughn, and Mrs. Clara E. Wendland.

Music for last night's session was provided by Mrs. Doris Ranck Smith, soprano, with Mrs Fred Cahall, as accompanist. The program was in charge of the public affairs committee of the club of which Mrs Marjorie Comer was chairman.

Sewer Line Bids Opened

The Howard Thayer company, of Galion, submitted a low bid of $14,270.93 for the construction of the trunk sewer in District 8 at the western edge of Mansfield.

Other bids were R. O. Darling Construction company, Mansfield, $15,224.40, and Zimmerman Contracting company, Mansfield, $18,438.25.

"The bids will be checked by the engineering department and the contract will be awarded in a few days," Mayor Roy W. Vaughn said.

The trunk line sewer will serve residents in the area of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, in the extreme west section of the city.

A pump will be installed at Trimble road and the B and O railroad. The trunk line will be installed west along the railroad to Oxford avenue, south on Oxford avenue to Park avenue west, west on Park avenue west to Grasmere avenue and south on Grasmere avenue.

The line will be approximately 1,714 feet long

Vandals Throw Tomatoes On Porch

The second report of pre-Halloween vandalism was made to police by a Dawson avenue resident last night who said boys had thrown green tomatoes on her front porch

Mrs. Beverly Seeds, 136 Dawson avenue, reported the incident at 9 p. m. Police said the only other report of vandalism was that boys let air out of automobile tires.

TOO EFFICIENT —

One Mansfielder, from the south end of town, declared today he is "fit subject for a psychiatrist." The man, anxiously awaiting the opening of hunting and trapping season, spent one entire afternoon cleaning shucks from walnuts, planning to use them to dye some steel traps. He placed them on the garage roof to decompose, then found them missing the next day. "Those garbage collectors are too darned efficient," he bitterly complained.

★

APPRECIATED —

Carl Becker, custodian at the John Simpson Junior high school, was introduced from his own platform in the auditorium last night when members of the Mansfield Music Study club showed their appreciation for his services. He was exploited as "the man who polishes the piano, the man who knows if the program is good" and "the man who can tell if the soprano's dress is better than her voice." Becker has been a constant aide in arranging props and other needs for musical programs held in the school auditorium.

BENCHED —

A 27-year-old Akron man who plunged 25 feet "out of bounds" last night during a football game at a Park avenue west parking lot, is temporarily out of the game today. Police said the player, E. H. Hinkson, fell 25 feet from the roof of the Kroger super market to the concrete while attempting to retrieve a football on top of the roof. Hinkson who was rushed to General hospital in an ambulance, apparently escaped without serious injury. He was treated for a back sprain and released. Officers said Hinkson kicked the football on top of the market roof, then scaled a ladder up the side of the store to get the ball. As he approached the roof the ladder gave way and Hinson fell to the pavement. Police said the mishap occured at the parking lot, just east of the super market.

Capacity 15 Million Gallons

Will Double Water Supply

The city will ask for bids for the construction of the $500,000 water treatment plant, the final major contract remaining in the $2,450,000 Clear Fork water project.

At a special meeting last night, at which every member of council was present, the lawmakers approved legislation authorizing Service-Safety Director Earl T. Garrison to advertise for bids for the building of the plant.

But, before the legislation was approved there was some discussion among councilmen and other city officials, about the capacity of the plant.

Councilman George Kyle questioned whether the plant would produce sufficent water for new customers and for the expected growth of Mansfield.

Engineers for the water project say the treatment plant will filter and purify 7½ million gallons of the water each day. With additional filters in the building that will be constructed, the capacity could be boosted to 15 million gallons a day, Garrison said.

When the 7½ million gallons of water which the city's wells are said to be capable of producing are added to the amount available from the reservoir, the possible production of the new water system—with additional filters at the treatment plant is 22½ million gallons a day.

The system, as it will be constructed at this time will be capable of producing about 15 million gallons of water each day. Engineers say the project will be completed "sometime in 1950."

The water consumed during the summer months reached a peak of about 6½ million gallons a day, O. C. Kalbfleisch, superintendent of the water department said.

So, with the water treatment plant as it will be constructed, the water available will be more than doubled.

The well water will not be routed through the treatment plant, but will be blended with the treated water at the main pumping station.

The new treatment plant will be contructed a few hundred feet from the main pumping station on the Alta-Lexington road.

It will treat and purify water from the Clear Fork reservoir located about one and a quarter miles away. The reservoir water will be pumped to the treatment plant by the low lift pumping station now under construction at the reservoir. From the treatment plant the water will be routed to the main pumping station and forced into Woodland reservoir from where it will be distributed to the city.

Allen Isn't 'Demon' Long

Albert L. Allen jr., had "a short life as a fire demon" today. Just about three minutes from the time he appeared on the street to be exact. Allen was "picked off" about 9 a. m. by George Gazdak jr., 575 Glendale boulevard, as he walked into the Parkway restaurant.

It was quite a triumph for Gazdak who told Allen he's been trying to get a prize fire extinguisher for three days now.

Allen is one of the 13 fire demons circulating through the city this week in observance of "Fire Prevention Week". Those who are the first to ask the right man if he's the "demon for the day" get a fire extinguisher for home or auto use, courtesy of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance.

All "demons" are sporting bright red satin ties as "demon trademarks."

Mansfield Plays Host To Successful District Meet

By OLIVE GRESMER
(News-Journal Society Editor)

The importance of junior activity in the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs was stressed yesterday when several hundred members of the middle north district of the federation convened here at the First Methodist church. One hundred and 67 from area towns attended the afternoon session to participate in the business meeting and program. In the evening more than 400 heard an unusually fine musical program presented in the auditorium of the John Simpson Junior high school.

Mrs. E. D. Gibson, district president, presided for the one day meeting, assisted by Harold McCuen, president of the Mansfield Music Study Club, and committee chairmen for the event.

The local organization is completing plans for the state meeting of the federation to be held here next spring.

Many state and district officers and chairmen were present yesterday and members of the federation were in attendance from Perrysville, Wooster, Loudonville, Bellville, Butler, Marion, Cleveland, Upper Sandusky, Shelby, Carrollton, Alliance, Willard, Galion and Ashland.

District officers are Mrs. Gibson, president; Mrs. Walter Jones, Wooster, vice president; Mrs. Harry Brown, Perrysville, secretary; and Mrs. Noel Shaffer, Loudonville, treasurer. Mrs. Harry Valentine of Cleveland, state president, attended the meeting and addressed the group.

Mrs. K. E. Buhr served as general chairman of the meeting, assisted by Mrs. Edward Delp, reservations; Mrs. D. A. Spayde, Mrs. William Hazeltine and Miss Myrtle Booth, registration; Miss Pearl Danback, table arrangements; and Miss Booth and Mrs. Charles Bundt, hostesses for the evening program.

Such a varied program was presented at the afternoon and evening sessions it would be difficult to select a n outstanding number. However, a definite highlight was the presentation of Miss Rosemary Boyaggi, 19 year-old Cleveland miss, who won the student competition award this year which was given by the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs. She favored with seven selections last evening and was well received by the appreciative audience.

Thirty-eight youngsters from the Lutheran Young People's Choir of Shelby entertained in the afternoon and thrilled the audience with their number. These children, ranging in age from the first grade to junior high, were directed by Mrs. Catherine Winans. Another well received number was given by juniors from the Ernest Hutchenson Club of Upper Sandusky, which is the highest ranking junior club in the United States. The Treble Clef and Junior Girls' choir of Ashland, with Mrs. Dorothy Garrigus as director, gave an old choral which was outstanding.

Mrs. H. J. Mautz, state junior counselor, spoke at the afternoon session on junior activity. She announced there are now 86 junior music clubs in Ohio.

Following the afternoon session, dinner was served at the church to more than 100. Miss Bertha Ruess, Dean of the Mansfield Federation of Women, was the guest speaker, using as her subject, "Music in the Bible". Miss Ruess, who is well known here for her interesting delivery, entertained her audience with an informative and still informal talk on music representative of Bible times.

"The Bible is the book that makes men sing", said Miss Ruess and she quoted from First Corinthians, 14th chapter, "I will sing with the spirit and with the understanding".

"Music", said the speaker, "is God's great gift to man".

She said that congregational singing is less than 400 years old and was begun by Martin Luther. The first hymn book was printed in 1524.

The local music club presented Miss Ruess and Mrs. Valentine with purple orchids.

Certainly to be mentioned for the evening performance was the outstanding presentation of the massed chories, which is composed of more than 100. J. Frederick Wolf directed the group which includes members from Upper Sandusky, Loudonville, Wooster, Ashland, Mansfield, Perrysville, Butler and Bellville. The middle north district is the only one in the federation to have such an organization.

The Mansfield Recreation orchestra, directed by Joseph Pival, the Treble choir, under Mrs. William Hazeltine's direction, The Mansfield Choral Society, directed by Mr. Wolf, Miss Louise Krause, soloist, and the Ladies' massed chorus, were equally good for the evening's varied program.

The next district meeting is scheduled for 1950 in Ashland.

REGISTRATION—Mrs. Nelson Mosher of Ashland, a district junior counselor, and Calvin Rogers, head of the music department at Ashland College, register with Mrs. K. E. Buhr and Mrs. Edward Delp at the district meeting of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs here.

HOSTESSES—Mrs. Charles Bundt, Miss Myrtle Booth and Mrs. D. A. Spayde played an active part in the district meeting of the Ohio Federation of Music Clubs here Wednesday. Mrs. Bundt and Miss Booth were hostesses for the evening program and Mrs. Spayde, a past district president, served on the registration committee.

With the first crispness of autumn hot and hearty cream soups establish themselves solidly into our menus. They're always a good beginning for dinner and are substantial enough to be a main dish for lunch.

There are cream soups and more cream soups to choose from—an almost endless number of delicious concoctions, each a bowlful of good eating. Cream soups are nutritious additions to any meal, too since they are made with wholesome milk. And what a tasty way to eat part of your daily milk quota.

Appledorf Soup is no exception—it's good and good for you. This savory soup, made of milk and potato puree is deftly seasoned with spices, onion and catsup.

Good soups deserve good companions. With Appledorf Soup serve saltines sprinkled with grated American cheese and broiled just long enough to melt the cheese. To complete a nourishing lunch add a crisp vegetable salad, peach cobbler and milk.

Appledorf Soup

4 cups diced raw potatoes
1 cup diced celery
3 tablespoons butter
½ cup diced onion
2 teaspoons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
4 cups milk
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Add seasonings, milk, 2-3 cup vegetable juice, pureed vegetables and minced parsley. Heat thoroughly, stir in catsup, garnishing with a swirl on top of each bowl. Serves 6.

For Friday, October 14

A strange or freaky turn of events a peculiar episode or contacts with an unusual person, problem or situation, may prove so upsetting that a gross blunder, faulty reasoning, or hasty rushing into strange predicaments may result in loss, failure of plans and projects, or other unfamiliar or undesirable climax The disturbance may be far - reaching unless shrewdly manipulated at the source Anticipate unusual complications.

For the Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may suddenly come up against some freak, erratic or tricky situations which threaten to disrupt current affairs of a progressive state of affairs, as well as business relations This visitation may prove so upsetting as to warp the judgment or incite to reckless or erratic behavior with devastating and unprofitable adventures Hold to logic and common sense

A child born on this day may have an adventurous and strange career, with reversals and changes, obscuring its sound judgment and arousing emotional responses to its detriment.

Voice of Broadway

CUFF NOTES

A "conservative estimate" along Broadway is that ticket speculators made $800,000 on the first four World Series games . . . Linda (Mrs. Cole) Porter is much better, •her fans and his will be happy to learn. She has been very ill since last winter . . . Velentina Cortesa, the sultry Italian import, is having a big romance with a skyrocketing Hollywood director. His name has to be a secret, though . . . Orchestra leader Gray Gordon has filed suit for a separation from Noel Carter, the model . . . Alla Illitchoun, the mannequin — just over from Dior's atelier in Paris — is getting $40 an hour already . . . Glamour girl Shelley Winters is on a milk diet, hits the hay nightly by nine-thirty and is wearing no makeup — all part of her campaign for a new healthy Shelley.

• • •

Hedy Lamarr, who has grown so "crazee about New York" that she intends to live here most of the time, confides that she would love to do a Broadway play if she could find the right script. (So would Tallulah!) Meanwhile Hedy is discovering Dixieland jazz, and drags all her dates down to Eddie Condon's in the village . . . Terence Rattigan is in town for the opening of his latest play, "The Browning Version," which stars Edna Best and Maurice Evans . . . Edward Johnson of the Metropolitan Opera will be the godfather of Claudia Pinza's new baby, which also has the distinction of being Ezio Pinza's first grandchild . . . Marian Richards is quitting her singing role in "As The Girls Go" to join crooner Jack Stanton in a wedding scene . . . The cafe owners are gleeful over the outlook for business now that the World Series crowds are gilding the ringsides. A few months ago you could have bought almost any of the smaller clubs for a song — now they want an arm and a leg to sell, or just aren't interested.

• • •

Margaret Sullavan is seeing George Gregson. Weren't they reported engaged at one time? . . . Gene Autry, who has nothing but money already, has just received word that an oil well he owns came in a gusher . . . Lots of Tin Pan Alley talk about a young singer named Vinnie de Campo whom Harry James claims as his discovery. . .Hattie Silverman, widow of Variety's famed "Sime" Silverman, has checked out of her hotel apartment and into a hospital . . . Three of Harry Conover's top models were floating around town dressed in baseball uniforms and toting portable radios. They gave the world series scores to anyone who asked . . . The playboys who make El Morocco their headquarters are getting ready to break out the champagne. Jean McCormick, one of the favorite playgirls, is due back from Europe any boat now.

U. S. Must Keep Faith With Allies

Tough Problems Face Continent

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Though the devaluations and the atomic explosion cannot fail to have far-reaching consequences, a reporter endeavoring to measure them now has little to go on in the way of public material.

In France and in Britain there are internal difficulties of which the outcome is not now predictable. As to international relations there has been some comment but not nearly so much as the intrinsic importance of these events would justify.

Yet the meager reaction cannot mean that nothing is changed and that all will go on as before. It means rather that the reaction is delayed because those who best realize the seriousness of events are saying little.

They hope they will be able to think a lot before they have to speak responsibly. For there is no clear and evident answer to the problems that have been posed. This is because the problems are so difficult and not because they do not exist.

Never was it more important that the nations of the continent should have confidence in the good faith and loyalty of Britain and America as members of the Atlantic community than at the moment when the American monopoly of the A-bomb had ended prematurely and so unexpectedly.

Yet unhappily this has been the moment when the British and American statesmen went into a private huddle, and allowed — when some of them even promoted — the impression that they are a special and privileged group, acting exclusively, when vital decisions are taken.

It would be difficult to exaggerate the mischief and the danger of this impression, if it is not corrected before it takes hold — as it has not yet taken hold — of the passions of masses of the people in France, in Germany, and on the Soviet borderland.

For how can they be convinced that their security is truly the common concern of the two strongest and least vulnerable of their allies when in a matter of lesser gravity — the realignment of currencies — they were not consulted, were not even informed in advance, about decisions which affected them at home and abroad.

There will be a reaction to the peril, probably in a few weeks. It is likely to take the form of proposals originating among the continental nations. They will pose the issue sharply, though moderately, and in technical rather than emotional terms, as to whether Britain will participate concretely, at some risk and sacrifice, in the European system, and what the United States will do about it.

There may be proposals for the establishment of a European bank and monetary authority which would hold and manage some part of the gold and dollar reserves of all Marshall-aid countries, including Britain.

Proposals of this sort would provide a test of the principle of mutual aid, and of whether it is in fact true that Britain, with the blessing of the State department, is to draw away from the continent toward union, not with Europe, but with the United States.

Grape Fete Set Sunday

The festival is open to the public with an admission charge of 25 cents.

Next Wednesday Frankie Yankovic and his Yanks will play at GBU park, starting at 8 p. m. Yankovic is known as the "king of polka."

Returns After 22-Year 'Vacation'

Wandering Hubby Bares Marital Mixup

NEWTON, N. C. — (UP) — Mrs. Abel L. Huitt, happily married for 22 years yesterday began lengthy legal proceedings to straighten out the marital tangle caused by the return of her wandering first husband after a 26-year absence.

Gray-haired Archie Cline, 65, missing since 1923, started it all when he turned up at his wife's door and told her he still loved her.

But Wednesday Cline hit the road again. He said his wife told him she was married, happy and that he couldn't come in the house.

"I came home at last to die, but I guess I'd better move on," the wanderer lamented.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Huitt refused to talk about the tangle other than to say that she is happy with her present husband and intends to stay that way.

She filed court proceedings to annul her marriage to Huitt, but she said as soon as that is accomplished she will divorce Cline and remarry her present spouse.

She said she had married Huitt in 1927 only after receiving reports that her first husband was dead.

Cline told a tale of lonely wandering all over the country, sometimes dodging the law and sometimes reversing the procedure and working as a prison guard.

He disappeared in 1923 when he was sentenced to two years in prison on a bootlegging conviction in Iredell county, N. C. When he was released, he got into more trouble on an assault charge at Concord, N. C., and "spent seven years dodging the law from state to state."

He followed a carnival through Ohio, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, South Dakota and Oregon, worked on construction jobs, and finally came back to North Carolina 10 years ago.

Recently he "got the urge" to see his wife again.

He traced her to her home and went to see her. "When she answered the door I asked if I could come in and make myself at home," Cline said.

"She said she was married and was happy and I couldn't come in."

"So I'm going away," he said.

Raps U. S. 'Socialism'

ATLANTIC CITY — (AP) — Senator Byrd (D-Va) said Wednesday "America is on the march to socialism."

Byrd, a frequent and sharp critic of the administration's fiscal policies, said the pace of the march is increasing to the tempo of expanding federalized programs and increasing national debt.

Addressing the annual convention of the National Wholesale Druggists association, he said: "The deficit financing of federal programs in time of peace is piling up a federal debt to proportions in which the liberties of free enterprise cannot survive."

Byrd said that if the debt is allowed to grow confidence will be destroyed.

"If effort is made to check or curtail the debt without reduction in expenditures, destructive taxation would be required," he said, adding, "in either event insolvency would result."

Gray Says Veterans OK At Paying Loans

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Only three-tenths of one percent of the $9,020,415,239 in loans to veterans since 1944 for business and home purposes have been defaulted, Maj. General Carl R. Gray jr., said yesterday.

General Gray, administrator of veterans affairs, spoke at a Rotary club meeting. He said that since June of the year when the BI bill was passed, 1,670,964 loans for homes, farms and businesses have been approved.

75 Couples Attend Columbus Day Dance

BUCYRUS — More than 75 couples Wednesday night attended the first Columbus day dance ever sponsored by the local Knights of Columbus council. The affair was held in the K. of C. Hall with A. W. Spaeth, police department identification officer, as chairman of the arrangements committee.

Assisting him were James DeStazio, Leonard Alderton, Walt Kaduck, Joseph Sherbundy, Leonard Messig and Jack Herald. Music was furnished by Jack Friend and his orchestra of Bucyrus.

Near-Record Grain Crop Predicted

Only Part Will Be Put To Use

WASHINGTON — (AP) — If livestock feed supplies now available were put to the production of meat, dairy and poultry products, Americans could really have a lot on the table next year.

This possibility — which, incidentally is not a probability — stood out in an Agriculture department report Tuesday. This report bore out previous forecasts that crop production this year would be the second largest of record.

Making up a very important part of that large volume are record supplies of feed grains, including a big corn crop of 3,477,000,000 bushels.

Taking into account feed supplies carried over from last year and this year's production of corn, oats, corghum grains and barley, food supplies on farms for the feeding season ahead will be the largest ever available.

Augmenting the food grains are a bumper supply of hay and good fall pastures in most parts of the country except the east where a summer drought hurt grass. The report also told of promising supplies of wheat pastures in a broad region from Texas north into Nebraska.

But only a part of these food supplies is likely to be used. In the first place, there are not enough animals to consume it all. In the second place, farmers are not too anxious to expand livestock production much beyond present levels.

Influencing farmers is the fact that prices of livestock and livestock products have declined considerably this year. Furthermore, there is the possibility that they will drop ever further.

Much of this year's big feed grain supply will move into storage under government price support programs rather than into feed troughs.

It is quite possible that upwards of 1,100,000,000 bushels of corn alone — nearly 40 percent of an average-size crop —will be tied up under such programs a year from now.

Operation Job Irks Hundreds Of Idle Men

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Several hundred Cincinnati jobseekers today are fed up with the Ohio National Guard's "operation fill-up."

They traveled to an outlying section of the city last night to answer newspaper advertisements for men wanting part time work at $1.25 an hour and up. The ads gave no indication as to the type of work but merely said for applicants to show up at the Ridgewood Forge plant.

When the applicants arrived they found the advertisements actually were to get men to join the national guard.

5% Probers Stop Work

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Chairman Hoey (D) N C., announced yesterday that the Senate "five per center" investigating committee has unanimously decided to hold no further hearings during this session of Congress.

Hoey also said after a closed-door meeting of his group that the committee ' probably" would hold no hearings during the congressional recess before the next session in January

However, Hoey said that the committee staff will continue its investigation into "leads which came out during the hearings."

The chairman said the physical condition of alleged five per center James V. Hunt, whose activities touched off the investigation, was so bad that he had to close his Washington office.

Cites Gains With Treaty

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of State Acheson told the Senate Foreign Relations committee Wednesday "a good deal of progress" has been made with Russia on an Austrian peace treaty.

Talking with newsmen after a closed-door session, Senator Connally (D-Tex), committee chairman said Acheson advised the senators that the United States and Russia have agreed informally that Austria will have her pre-war boundaries.

'This will mean," Connally said, "that Austria will have the same boundaries she had before Hitler marched in."

Connally said Acheson reported "substantial progress has been accomplished" toward the Austrian treaty, but he added that questions of Danube shipping, reparations, and ownership of German-controlled property in Austria remain to be settled

Connally also said Acheson gave a "complete report" on the entire Asiatic situation and discussed "the probable recognition" later of a communist government in China.

Cast-Off GI Brides Prove Drug On British Market

LONDON — (UP) — Cast-off G. I. brides are a drug on the marriage market, the head of a leading London marriage bureau said yesterday

Nobody wants them

The average Englishman would rather marry a British girl with illegitimate children than one who has divorced an American soldier and returned to her native land to seek a new mate, Mrs Mary Blair said.

"I have at least six divorced G I brides on my books" the 27-year-old marriage expert said "But when I offer to introduce them to Englishmen it is hopeless

"The men just shrug their shoulders and tell them to go back to America, where they belong.

Mrs. Blair said the G I brides were attractive and intelligent

Bares Demands

CLEVELAND — (AP — Patrick J. O'Malley, regional director of the United Automobile Workers, said yesterday the union would seek contracts for some 30,000 members in 45 manufacturing plants here similar to the one signed recently by the Ford Motor company.

But neither is sufficient to overcome the Englishman's resentment against girls who first chose American spouses

"Englishmen are jealous of American men", Mrs Blair said "They feel they spoil their women and they don't want to be 'second-best' choice when a G I. bride gets fed up with her husband."

U. S. Rules For Wedlock 'Too Tough'

Doctor Defends Divorce Custom

NEW YORK — (AP— Marriage in the United States is one of the toughest kinds of marriage that "the human race has ever attempted," says Dr. Margaret Mead

The noted anthropologist cites the reasons and suggests ways to remedy the problems in a new book, "Male and Female," published today. One way, she says, is not to look upon divorce as something disgraceful.

Dr. Mead is associate curator of ethnology at the American Museum of Natural History. Her book reviews the ideas of seven different South Pacific peoples and of Americans toward sex, males and females, and marriage

In some societies, marriage is fairly simple, she explains Boys and girls very early are made to know and understand what will be expected of them as males and females Then training follows a definite pattern

But in the United States children grow up in many different backgrounds, with many various attitudes toward the sexes marriage, religion, and other matters

Yet, Dr. Mead says, we have the romantic ideal that anyone can marry anyone else he happens to fall in love with, and live happily ever after. The differences in background often cause real trouble, she writes

Marriage is put under other strains, too. Young couples are expected to stand on their own feet without outside help Husbands and wives are expected to be perfect, and to be many different things.

There is also strain from the American drive for success in anything a person undertakes Marriage becomes a job to be worked at every day

Divorce is open for many couples, but many Americans think of divorce as a sign of failure and even sin, Dr. Mead said. The expectation that this marriage was for keeps is broken.

Tightening up divorce laws would be a backward step, she writes. The enormous differences in background would still remain, and there would still be great chances of marriages between persons not suited for each other.

She suggests several ways to make marriages safer and more responsible:

One is to rear children somehow so they can adjust to new ideas and social changes Another is to recognize the danger that one partner in a marriage may outgrow the other.

Vacationists Find Unusual Animal Affection Display

Setter, Fawn Inseparable Companions

A group of Mansfielders who spent their vacation in Michigan during the summer are telling their friends about an unusual display of animal affection they witnessed there.

At a day's outing to Elbow lake, Michigan, the Mansfielders saw an English setter which has adopted a fawn as its constant companion.

The Mansfielders, Mr. and McCune, Mr. and Mrs. William Hahn, Mr. and Mrs. James Pfahler, and their children, saw the dog and fawn when they came out of a forest together to look for food.

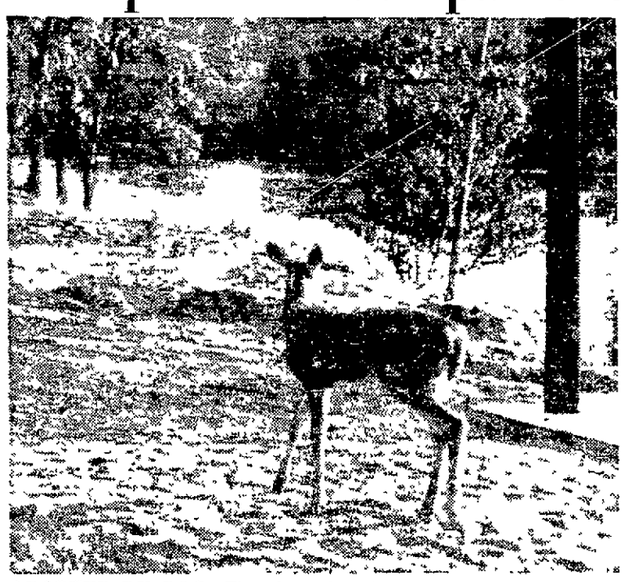
The dog found the fawn by the road some time ago and has taken care of it ever since.

The Mansfielders were told how the dog comes out of the forest each morning and evening, followed by the deer to be fed at a cottage by the lake.

The two animals eat and romp together, then return to the forest with the dog leading the way.

Natives of the region say the two animals are inseparable and sleep side by side in the woods

A small bell has been placed about the deer's neck to keep other animals away.



ADOPTED BY DOG—This fawn has been adopted by an English setter at Elbow Lake, Michigan. A group of Mansfielders vacationing in Michigan this summer saw the strange playmates as they came out of the forest for food The picture was taken by Mrs F. A McCune, 109 Helen avenue.

Accused Red Makes Plea For 'Rights'

Sums Up Defense In U. S. Trial

NEW YORK — (INS) — Eugene Dennis concluded defense summations at the communist conspiracy trial Wednesday with an impassioned plea to the jury that it reaffirm the bill of rights' in its verdict

"Whetever be your verdict" said Dennis, general secretary and one of the eleven defendants, "we communist leaders face the future with confidence in our party, our country and the people

"One way or another we will continue to serve the cause of peace and democracy In the end our ideals will triumph No federal administration can kill ideas"

Dennis was the last spokesman for the defense during the nine-month trial Previously five defense lawyers had made summations

The tall, gray haired, ruddy-faced Dennis general secretary of the communist party, addressed the jurors in a high trembly voice and delivered a lengthy oration on the real objectives" of Marxist-Leninist philosophy

"It is a false charge on the prosecution's part," he declared, 'to contend that because we communist leaders teach Marxism that we advocate the forcible overthrow of the United States government"

Overthrow of 'decadent" governments he asserted can and has been — accomplished by peaceful social revolution

He said the communist party in the United States has advocated socialism for the past thirty years

"But at no time" he insisted "have we tried to teach the American people it could be accomplished by means of a blood bath of violent revolution"

B-29's Fall Prey To Meteors

RAF Pilots 'Down' Big U. S. Bombers

By THOMAS C. WATSON

LONDON — (INS) — At an altitude of 22 000 feet above southern England RAF Pilot Murphy hit supersonic speed and made a lightning pass at the American B 29, shooting a sustained burst of 16 MM film

When the film was developed Murphy's claim to kill was confirmed This took place during "Operation Bulldog,' joint RAF-USAF air maneuvers held recently over Britain

Murphy was not alone. Several British air experts—none of them official spokesmen—agreed that the B 50 the B 29 are by no means invulnerable to fighter attack at high altitudes

Further they claim that the interceptions like Murphy's were carried out by British Meteor jet fighters—a plane now considered outmoded by the RAF

Here is what one expert reported

'A force of B 29's attacked a target near Oxford and a force of B 50's raided the same target later in the afternoon Both sorties were intercepted more than once by RAF and allied western union Meteor squadrons operating southwest of London"

But Maj Gen Leon W Johnson, commanding the U S Third Air division is non-communicative In a non commital statement Johnson said

The lessons learned have furthered the efficiency of all concerned we have made attacks against the highly-skilled defenses of the Dutch Belgians and French and also the British We have accomplished the purpose of the exercise We have furthered training

In the mock raid directed at Oxford—in which the Meteors reportedly carried out some successful interceptions—the B-50's simulated atom-bomb carriers However, a night raid by B-50's from 35,000 feet was said to have been carried off without effective fighter opposition.

From official sources—both British and American—comes only the comment that the maneuvers were "very successful' As to the fighter-bomber controversy, the airmen are keeping mum

U. S. Pushes Search for Trace of Two Missing Americans

Brothers Disappear In Poland

Iron Curtain Swallows Pair

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia —(AP)—American embassy officials here said Wednesday they are trying to track down the whereabouts of Noel Field, former U. S. State department employe, who reportedly vanished behind the "iron curtain" last spring.

Field is the brother of Hermann Field, Cleveland, architect, who also has been missing since he was believed to have boarded a plane in Warsaw, Poland, Aug. 27.

Embassy officials here said they believed Noel Field was the American described as a foreign agent in the recent Budapest trial of Lazlo Rajk, former Hungarian communist foreign minister who was sentenced to death for treason.

Several defendants at the trial testified they were brought into the American secret service in Switzerland by a "Noel H. Field" to work for overthrow of Hungary's communist regime.

The State department has only identified Noel Field as a former department employe who had been living recently in Switzerland.

A spokesman said recently the department was informed Noel Field went to Prague last May and the following June an acquaintance reported receiving a telegram from him saying he was going to Hungary for a few days. He has not been heard from since.

Hermann Field, 28, disappeared ofter booking a flight from Warsaw to Prague.

Records show Field cleared customs and his name was entered on the passenger manifest at the Warsaw airfield. His name was scratched from the manifest accompanying the Czech plane by the airline stewardness, who said Field was not on the ship, the American embassy in Warsaw said.

The Polish foreign ministry has assured the American embassy that it was "reasonably certain" that Hermann Field "has not been arrested nor taken into custody."

Czech customs officials also said he never landed at Prague.

Bromfield's Secretary Raps Brannan Farm Program

The Brannan plan and other government subsidies will eventually cost every American man, woman and child from $26 to $52 dollars a year, Woodrow Wyant, secretary to Author-Farmer Louis Bromfield told Optimist club members yesterday.

Speaking at the Optimists' noon luncheon at the Mansfield - Leland hotel, the West Virginia university annual husbandry graduate and former professor at Ohio university said these subsidies help support the 70 per cent of the nation's farmers who don't know how to farm and are not producing what the farm is worth.

"We cannot continue to support these farmers. Instead we must educate them so they will be able to support themselves," he stated

"Agriculture has come to the place today where the farmer must have a knowledge of minerals, soil, biology and a host of other related subjects Today's farmer can no longer be called a 'hick'; instead he is entering the realm of the professional man. Farmers will be here long after the business man is gone; his is the first and will be the last profession," he said.

A&P

Customers' Corner

Who wants to put A & P out of business?

Not our customers. Many thousands of them are writing and phoning us and telling our clerks and managers that they want to continue to enjoy quality A & P foods at low A & P prices.

Not our suppliers. Farmers and manufacturers alike are telling us that they want to protect this efficient outlet for their products.

Not our 110,000 employees. They want to keep the high wages, good working conditions and security they enjoy with A & P.

Not labor. Union leaders are wiring us to ask what they can do to defeat this threat to labor's living standards.

All these people are telling us they don't want the anti-trust lawyers to put A & P out of business.

Czechs Cut Prices On All Exports

Take Move Towards Aiding Buyers

PRAGUE, — (AP) — Czechoslovakia is quietly slashing the prices of its exports to bring them in line with the devalued currencies of the buying countries — a step which is tantamount to cheapening the Czech crown itself.

But by devaluing this way, the nation's communist leaders gain two important goals:

1. Continuance of trade with the west which is necessary for obtaining precious raw materials for Czech factories.

2. Continuance of the official line that the Czech currency is so strong that it can withstand any pressure from the west.

Shortly after Sir Stafford Cripps announced the devaluation of the pound sterling — followed by devaluation in other countries — Czech communist leaders crowed that they would not follow suit.

"We are not subject to the wolves of Wall street," was their cry.

But all thinking Czechs in business and finance knew that the counctry's money experts would have to do something if Czechoslovakia was to keep on doing business with the west.

As one western observer pointed out, Great Britain could not fulfill its recently negotiated long term trade pact with Czechoslovakia if it had to buy Czech goods at the old prices.

So Czech leaders decided to cut their prices to keep in business.

This will mean a loss of money to many Czech industries. But the nation's leaders consider this a small price to pay for continued trade with the west.

But in this integrated, communist economy, where profit and loss has been ruled out since February, 1948, a nationalized factory need not end up in the black at the end of the fiscal year.

Norwegian Reds Whipped At Polls

OSLO, Norway — (AP) — Norwegian communists suffered an overwhelming defeat in Monday's nationwide elections, losing all but one of the 11 parliamentary seats they had held since 1945.

Virtually complete returns showed today that Premier Einar Gerhardsen's ruling Labor party was returned to office with a gain of 10 seats in the Storting (parliament.) The Labor party won 86 seats, 10 more than it held in the old parliament.

Veterans Dot Cast Of Players

Hold Key Roles In Production

There'll be veterans on stage and veterans in the wings when the Mansfield Community Players present their first production of the season, Nov 1 and 2 at John Simpson auditorium

The "on stage" veterans, well known to Community Players audiences from past roles they've carried in the amateur theatrical group, will be headed by Corinne Schettler, winner of the "best acting award" of the Players last year; Bettie Gibson Cropper, who won the plaudits in the summer production of "Antigone" and Jean Sauter, ranked as the best actor in "Suds In Your Eye," presented last year.

Other top players in the cast will be Don Fatkin, who has appeared in both straight and character roles; and Dick ("Doc") Airhart, who will be in his third role as a doctor in his fourth appearance with the Players.

On the other side of the curtain, Walt Perl will direct the back stage activities in his repeated "role" of technical director. Mrs. George French will be making sure that all actors have their properties and that the stage is set according to directions; H. H. Schettler, well known as both actor and director of the Players, will apply the grease paint; and veteran lighting technican, Joe Mayer, will provide the difficult effects for the play.

Other veterans at the technical jobs will include W. E. Slabaugh jr., as advertising chairman; Marguerite Miller McMullen as publicity director; Thelma Frankel as program chairman; and Roberta Monahan, in charge of tickets.

The set, now under construction, is being built at Linham's service station, East Fourth and North Adams. Extra stage hands are needed for the construction and those interested may get in touch with either Perl or with E. D. Gibson at the Gibson Motors, Park avenue east.

Season memberships to the Players are on sale now at the Mansfield - Leland hotel, the Richland Trust company and the Farmers bank.

ROCKETING INTO THE AIR—A U. S. Navy P-2-V Neptune bomber takes off from the Worcester, Mass., Municipal airport with its Jato units roaring during a demonstration of air power. The navy thrilled 60,000 spectators at an air show with its display of the aircraft now in use by the sea arm of the N. S. defense setup.

Named as committee chairmen were George Pfeifer, membership; Harry Anderson, social, Leonard Frost, benevolence, John Cole, grounds, and William Robertson, finance.

The new officers and chairmen were elected at an association meeting.

New East-German President Approves Ex-Nazis' Rights

BERLIN—(INS)— Otto Grotewohl, minister-president (premier) of the new Soviet-backed East German republic, Wednesday promised "full equal rights to all former nazis" and bitterly attacked the western powers.

Grotewohl spoke before a session of the East German parliament in Berlin, and presented his new 14-man communist-packed cabinet.

The six key posts went to members of the pro-communist socialist unity party (SED). Grotewohl and President Wilhelm Pieck are SED leaders

While the communist puppet regime convened, American, British and French commandants prepared to hear a request from the west sector magistrate to have their area of Berlin made part of the federal republic of Western Germany, with headquarters at Bonn.

The plan is to make Western Berlin a 12th state in the allied-sponsored republic.

Maj. Gen. W. H. Bourne, British commandant of Berlin, hinted strongly to a committee of West Berliners petitioning for inclusion of the city in West Germany that their wish will be granted.

He said he "suggested" they study the city's constitution indicating they would find a legal way there for adherence to the Bonn government

Forestry Group Dedicates Muskingum Watershed Area

LEESVILLE — (AP) — The Muskingum Conservancy district was dedicated here Wednesday at ceremonies attended by members of the American Forestry association

The conservation proponents came here from Wheeling, where the Forestry association held its 68th annual convention Monday and Tuesday.

A tour of the district was held preceding the dedication

The group moved on to Akron later in the day, where General Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, delivered an address last night.

The association members were told in Wheeling Tuesday that state and local communities together with individual landowners, bear the greatest part of the responsibility for the conservation of natural resources

Governor James Duff of Pennsylvania warned that "failure to take steps at the community level to protect the resources can only invite welfare state treatment."

Kent Leavitt of Duchess county, New York, president of the National Association of Soil Conservation districts, called on the landowners to take their part in the program.

"Only when landowners accept the responsibility of true trusteeship can they expect freedom to manage without governmental control," he said

Air Yardage Tops Total Of '48 Club

Offense of the 1949 Mansfield Senior high school football has proven just about as potent as that of the '48 Tygers but the present grid team is going about its attack in a different manner.

Coach Augie Morningstar has opened up his attack this season and passing has become a potent weapon. Morningstar's two previous Mansfield teams had relied almost completely on a running offense with such aces as Tommy Tucker, A. C. Jenkins, Joe Letizia, Lou Gregorio, Joe Miller and Harry Osbun carrying the ball.

Only Tucker and Jenkins are left and they have constituted the majority of the ground offensive. Senior high has rolled up 899 yards on the ground this season with the two aces getting 816 of the total.

However, Little Don Cline has added a potent air arm to the offensive pattern to take up the slack on ground operations. Cline has already completed 20 of 45 passes for 247 yards. In comparison, all-Ohio Paul Ferguson completed only 22 of 48 over the entire 1948 season for 222 yards.

The 1948 squad rolled up 1,108 yards on the ground and 56 in the air for a 1,164 total in the first four games. The present Tyger crew has 889 on the ground and 247 in the air for 1,146.

But the 1949 crew has done more with its yardage, piling up 108 points to 80 last year The difference again is in passing as only one of the '48 scores came through the air while five '49 counters have come on passes.

LEADS SCORING

Jenkins has scored 60 points to lead the present Bengals but yielded the ground gaining laurels to Tucker, 409 to 407 yards. Tucker is second in scoring with 19.

Big Ed Demyan continues as the leading pass catcher with nine catches for 121 yards. Jenkins is second in this division with five catches for 84 yards.

Yankees Buy Two Bright Pacific Coast Loop Aces

BY JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK—(AP)—The New York Yankees, announcing they won't "stand pat" on their present world championship team for 1950, bought two of the brightest stars in the Pacific Coast league today.

Manager Casey Stengel announced the purchase of Jackie Jensen, outfielder who is a former California football star, and Alfred (Billy) Martin, an infielder.

They were bought from the Oakland club, which Stengel managed last year.

No price was divulged, but it's rumored the Yankees shelled out in the neighborhood of $100,000 and five players for the two athletes, who were widely sought after by major league clubs.

"You never sit tight," Casey told newsmen in the Yankees' final news conference of the season yesterday. "You can't afford to stand pat in this league. We're going to try to strengthen our pitching staff, although it looked pretty good in the last week. Sure, we could use a couple of pitchers.

"I'd like to improve my outfield a little, too. We're willing to listen to anybody who has something reasonable to offer."

Jensen, 22, is the former football star at the University of California. He is a bonus player. Owner C. L. (Brick) Laws, in beating 14 big league clubs to his services, lured him at the close of the college baseball season last spring with a bonus of $40,000 plus a three-year contract at $15,000 per.

"My scouts tell me that Jensen is the greatest outfield prospect in the minor leagues," said Casey. "He is fast, has tremendous power, and owns the strongest arm in baseball since Bob Meusel."

DRIVES IN 78

In 125 games with the Oaks, Jensen batted .261 this season. Included in his 122 hits were 21 doubles, seven triples and nine home runs. He drove in 78 runs.

Jensen is engaged to wed Zoe Ann Olsen, national diving champion.

Stengel said eight clubs had been after Martin, a second baseman who also can play short or third.

Martin, 21, hit .284 this year—including 29 doubles, three triples and 13 homers. He drove in 91 runs.

John Simpson Plays Madison Team Tonight

The first leg on a round-robin series between Mansfield's two junior high schools and the Madison reserve football team will be played tonight at the Madison athletic field at 7 o'clock.

John Simpson junior high will meet the Little Rams in an attempt by both teams to get off to a head start. Johnny Appleseed will play Madison next week while the traditional Appleseed-Simpson game is set for Oct. 26.

Simpson looms as a slight favorite tonight as the Madison reserve squad is considerably short-handed. A half-dozen or so members of the subs moved up to the varsity this week. Simpson, on the other hand, will rely on a more experienced squad led by the hard-hitting Benny Carbetta at fullback.

Simpson has won one game, lost two and tied one. Madison has battled to ties in both of its starts.

★

Appleseed was to meet the Shelby reserves at 4 p. m. here this afternoon at the Appleseed field. Appleseed is unbeaten in two games.

Bierman Adds Another Back To Travel Roster

MINNEAPOLIS — (UP) — Coach Bernie Bierman today had a new name on his 36 man traveling roster for the Minnesota-Ohio State game at Columbus Saturday.

He is Bill McMoore, hard-working senior left halfback, who was expected to reinforce the gopher backfield just in case Billy Bye isn't in top shape.

Rollie Hemsley Promises Hustle In Red Bird Team

COLUMBUS — (INS)— New Red Bird manager Rollie Hemsley today promised "a hustling ball club" if not a winning one next year.

Hemsley, a former big league catcher and ex-Clevelander, was signed by Red Birds president Al Banister to pilot the minor league club in 1950.

Banister said Harold Anderson, who managed the club for three years, will be retained in another capacity in the St. Louis Cardinal organization.

Enroute to his home in Sycamore, O., Hemsley said he may catch several games for the birds next year. Signing his one-year contract, Hemsley said:

"I don't know whether we will have a winning ball club or what kind, but I do know we'll have a hustling ball club. The players will hustle or they won't last long."

Hemsley said he plans to play in the Cuban league this winter.

Michigan Gets Passing Drill

ANN ARBOR, Mich. — (UP)— University of Michigan gridders worked on their mediocre passing attack yesterday in the week's first major aerial drill.

Coach Bennie Oosterbaan sent practically all his ends and backs through the rain-delayed passing practice. A pass defense session and a heavy scrimmage filled out the afternoon.

Halfback Chuck Ortmann, who suffered a head injury against Army last week end, will be a definite starter against Northwestern Saturday, coaches reported.

No Evidence Of Negligence

DETROIT — (AP) — Investigators for the prosecutor's office reported today they had found no evidence of negligence in the ring death of Talmadge Bussey, Detroit lightweight boxer

Members of Prosecutor Gerald K. O'Brine's staff, however, were continuing to take statements from principals in the fight promotion.

Bussey, 25-year-old ring veteran, was knocked out by Luther Rawlings of Chicago in a bout at Arcadia Monday night. Eleven hours later he died in a hospital of a blood clot on his brain.

Rangers' Pass Offense Gets Going Over

Mansfield's pro football Rangers will have to depend on an accelerated aerial attack if they hope to defeat the "loaded" Sandusky Maroons here Sunday afternoon at Stadium field.

Coach Jimmy Lymper of the Rangers indicated as much as he had four backs tossing the pigskin in a long passing session last night at the Richland Driving range. Ralph Majors, Elroy Jones, Al Schwaner and Pete Bautz were handling the aerial throwing.

The Rangers went through a dummy scrimmage last night and long passing drills are scheduled for tonight. The Mansfield team will wind up its week's work with a practice session Saturday at 10 a. m.

Except for Jim Burrage and Harold Luckie, ends, the Rangers will be in good shape to defend their second-place standing against the Maroons. Burrage is out with a shoulder separation while Luckie has an ankle sprain.

To ease the end shortage Bob Carpenter will play a defensive flanker spot Sunday. Carpenter had been playing offensive tackle in place of injured Jim Showecker. However, the big regular will be back in full-time action Sunday.

Schwaner also has been on the injury shelve but is again ready for full-time action. He will share the quarterback duties with Willis Walker and Bautz.

Bill Livingston, former Bellville guard, signed with the anglers yesterday. The 195 pounder will be used on defense.

Sandusky has won three of five games, losing to the Massillon Chevrolets, 20 to 0, and to the Dayton Rockets, 19 to 13. The Rockets are an affiliate of the Chicago Bears The Maroons have signed five members of the Rockets to play here Sunday.

Sandusky holds wins over Akron, 31 to 13; Toledo, 39 to 0 and Tallmadge AC, 32 to 0.

The Redmen last year's NOL Champions, defeated Tiffin Columbian, 7 to 0, in the season's opener but since then have sustained three solid defeats.

Esbenshade Tops Friendly House Show

Don Esbenshade, the high school senior who headlined several cards last year, will again get the main-event call when the Friendly House stages its first amateur boxing show of the year Oct. 24. The show will be the first in the new Friendly House and will be the first of a series of eight planned for the winter.

Esbenshade, who fights as a middleweight, will be paired with Dick Butcher, one of the six Akron boys who will be brought here for the show. He won a decision over Esbenshade last winter and the local youth will be out for revenge.

The semi-final scrap will pair featherweight Howard Carney of the Friendly House against Jesse Smith of Akron.

Comatchmakers Coonie Miller and Doc Whisler said that other Friendly House boys who will appear on the show are: Cecil Wright, bantamweight; Ollie Mayweather, middleweight; Jack Armbruster, lightweight; Gene Armbruster, welterweight; Johnny Sawyer, lightweight; and Larry Inscore, welterweight.

Petruska's Only Wisconsin Hope

MADISON, Wis. — (UP) — Limping Bobby Petruska today looked like the Badgers's only hope for an offensive quarterback to play against navy here next Saturday.

Petrusky, still suffering from the effects of an injury inflicted by Illinois, was able to work out with his teammates today. And, as the other two starting quarters are definitely benched, Coach "Ivy" Williamson was forced to plan on Petruska as Wisconsin's chief ball handler.

Army-Harvard Prediction: 78-0

By CHARLES EINSTEIN

NEW YORK — (INS) — The Saturday's child of college football these days is Art Valpey, who has the distinction of being head coach at Harvard, and figures, statistically, to lose to Army three days hence by a score of 78 to 0.

The privileged Mr. Valpey has seen his crimson forces lose, so far, to Stanford, Columbia and Cornell, by scores of 44-0, 14-7, and 33-14, which would indicate the Harvard offense is improving.

This Saturday, though, Harvard faces its most bearish foe to date. Using the familiar line of reasoning that invariably makes Slippery Rock three touchdowns better than Notre Dame, Harvard lost to Stanford 44-0; Stanford lost to Michigan 27-7; and Michigan lost to Army 21-7. Total spread: 78 points.

Funny thing is, it could be close to correct.

In Arnold Galiffa, the Black Knights have one of the most talented T-formation quarterbacks in football. He is operating this year behind a trumped-up line whose greatest feats may yet remain unsung. Somebody nobody knows, name of Gerard Kelly, was a B-team guard on the Army squad last week and made the trip to Ann Arbor for the Michigan game merely on his good looks.

He traveled not with the team, but with the visiting senior classmen. They gave him a uniform before the game just to assuage his feelings.

After a long while, late in the game, Army needed one thing—a guard. In went B-team Kelly. Of the next six tackles, he made four, and assisted on a fifth. Exit B-team Kelly. The game was over.

The Army team hasn't lost yet That kind of team often doesn't.

Ohio State 'Ready' for Tough Minnesota Eleven

Fesler Says Team Is 'Up' For Gophers

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Coach Wesley Fesler of Ohio State declared emphatically last night that his underdog team will give Minnesota a full-scale battle for 60 minutes on Saturday.

"If this Minnesota bunch thinks its going to come in here and kick our boys around, they're crazy," Fesler told the Ohio State Journal's quarterback club.

"We're going to be up more for this one than for any game so far," he declared.

Fesler said that in spite of the underdog role, new to the bucks in home games this year, his squad will go against Bernie Bierman's charges in top mental condition.

"I can't overstate the fact that the mental attitude of the squad is really great," he said.

But Fesler couldn't say as much for the physical condition of the team. The latest injury was a leg bruise suffered yesterday by Ray Hamilton, normally the starting right half. Walt Klevay, sophomore second stringer, took Hamilton's place on the "A" team although Hamilton was expected to be in shape by Saturday.

Klevay, himself, was without pads because of a shoulder bruise.

Following yesterday's hard practice, in which the injured threesome of Capt. Jack Wilson, Dick Schnittker and Vic Janowicz were on the field for the first time since the Southern California game, Fesler admitted that his starting lineup against the Gophers was still in the nebulous state at several spots.

He said that if Wilson's knee continues painful, Bill Trautwein will be moved in at right tackle. In the absence of Janowicz, Trautwein, a 236-pound tackle from Athens, O., is slated to do the kickoffs.

BONE SEPARATION

Janowicz' injury has definitely been diagnosed as a bone separation in his right ankle. The key Buckeye defensive man was on the field briefly in sweat pants and the corps of trainers expressed satisfaction with the way the injury is healing.

"But," emphasized Dr. Richard Patton, assistant team physician, "it might be one week and it might be six. You never can tell."

"Schnittker's knee is healing the most promisingly of all the injuries. With luck the big basketball star may see action at right end on offense this Saturday.

The team was to go through a full-time practice session today but without contact work.

Satch Paige Club Beats Lima Stars By 7-To-6 Tally

LIMA—(AP)—An all-Negro baseball team headed by Cleveland's Satchel Paige defeated a Lima all-star aggregation under the leadership of Gene Beardon here last night. The score was 7 to 6.

It was the first game of a month-long barnstorming tour in which Paige's outfit will meet all-star teams assembled by Beardon in cities from coast to coast. Both Beardon and Paige pitched four innings of the game. Each gave up three runs and four hits. Paige's aggregation and a Dayton all-star team will meet in Dayton tonight. The barnstorming tour will end in San Diego, Calif.

About 6,000 fans watched the game, the last in Lima's Halloran park. The park has been sold to commercial interests. Workmen will begin to raze the stands this morning.

Wins Texas Golf

FORT WORTH, Tex. — (AP) — Marlene Bauer yesterday defeated defending champion Polly Riley on the 19th hole in the Texas open golf tournament.

Pitt 11 Loaded With Rangy Grid Players

By JOHN GOLIGHTLY

PITTSBURGH—(INS)— It's a widely publicized fact now that the University of Pittsburgh football team is loaded with big, rangy kids who have power and speed and possess tremendous spirit.

They're called the "old pros" and they may turn out to be the surprise team of the year.

Seven are seniors. Six have won three block P's and the seventh two. Four junior lettermen round out the starting eleven.

Scouts usually leave the Pitt stadium awed by their poise. The Panthers are easily the most experienced outfit in Pitt history.

Coach Walter "Mike" Milligan's crew of two years has met more tough teams than any previous Pitt eleven in a four-year period.

The awful lickings in '46 and '47 forced them to learn the hard way, and the Panthers are paying off creditors in the same type of currency. This could be a perfect season for one of the nation's few single wing teams.

Already Milligan has maneuvered his boys past William and Mary, Northwestern and West Virginia, never by an overwhelming margin but each time impressively.

Miami of Ohio plays in Pittsburgh Saturday and after that it's all red meat with Indiana, Penn, Ohio State, Minnesota and Penn state.

Milligan, a sober, cautious Scotsman who learned his football under the late Dr. John B. "Jock" Sutherland, depends upon a mean, powerful line and a backfield propelled by two fine running backs, Capt. Lou "Bimbo" Cecconi and Jimmy Joe Robinson.

TOUGH IN CENTER

The center of his line has been declared the equal of Jock Sutherland's '38 aggregation and if the ends were just a bit more experienced, would exceed that well-known outfit.

He has junior Nick Bolkovac and Bobby Plotz, a senior, at the tackles, senior Bernie Barkouskie and Junior Mike Boldin at guards and senior Len Radnor for center. Juniors Nick De Rosa and Ted Ceremsky are the ends. The line averages 203 pounds and moves fast.

COACH BOYER

BILL FOSTER

Unbeaten Loudonville Hosts Madison 11 Friday

BY CHARLEY STINE

Another in the "murderer's row" schedule of the Madison high school football team comes up Friday night when the Rams invade Loudonville for a scheduled tilt with Coach Elmer Boyer's unbeaten Redbirds.

Like Madison, Loudonville is short on weight, but here the resemblance ends. The Redbirds have an experienced, well-geared unit which has swept past four opponents without a struggle. Madison, playing tougher competition, has lost all four of its starts.

Loudonville makes up in finesse what it lacks in size. With senior Bill Foster in the quarterback slot, the Ashland county crew has one of the slickest ball-handling clubs in the area. Foster is in his third year as a regular.

The T formation is used most of the time to get the most out of Foster's passing but the Birds shift into a single wing on occassion. From this formation Foster plays left half and is a fancy broken-field runner when he gets his hands on the ball. Jack Augenstein does the bucking from fullback with Glenn Reynolds and Paul Gray at the halfback slots.

SEVEN LETTERMEN

Seven members of the present team were lettermen last year. Only six are used at a time, however, as Tom Ellis and Wayne McClure alternate as offensive and defensive left ends.

Loudonville will go into Friday's game as a distinct favorite despite the fact that Loudonville has won only three games and tied one in the 22 years the teams have met.

Loudonville had never won a single game from the Rams until Boyer took over the reigns eight years ago. A win for Loudonville Friday will balance Boyer's record with Madison at four victories, and four defeats. Loudonville won by a 19-6 score last year.

Closest game for the Birds so far this season has been the opening game 20-7 victory over Fredericktown. After that they blasted Utica, 27-0, New London, 48-6, and Danville 26-7.

Center Carl Young, in his third year as first string center, has converted on 11 of the 13 times he has tried to boot the extra point. He also does all of the team's punting.

Fighters Engage In Big Battle Of Barber Shops

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — The Ezzard Charles-Pat Valentino title fight here tomorrow night could go into the record books as the battle of the barber shops.

Valentino — the longhaired local Sampson — already has won a preliminary skirmish. He forced NBA heavyweight champion Charles to shave his mustache — without sacrificing his own marvelous mop of hair.

Charles sported a neat mustahce. But California boxing laws forbid any facial adornment. Pat made a strong point of that before the boxing commission—and won.

Ez shaved. Said he didn't mind, he'd grow another, later.

The same rule backfired against Valentino. Pat used to bleed rather freely around the eyes. In his last few fights he wore a collodion patch for protection. He got by with that because no one objected—until Charles lost his mustache. Ez protested, and won.

Result: Charles traded his mustache for Pat's patch.

Money Lures Louis To Ring

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Joe Louis says it's the money—definitely not the possibility of a title comeback — that lured him from retirement into an exhibition schedule.

"I do not plan ever to fight for the championship again," a sullen Louis declared yesterday. He seemed irritated that anyone would question the sincereity of his retirement.

Then did he schedule several eastern exhibitions to renew interest in boxing? It has lagged since he retired.

"No," and he added, "there's money in it."

Pro Tennis Aces To Play In Europe

NEW YORK — (INS) — Promoter Bobby Riggs and his troupe of professional tennis stars will play in Europe late this year.

Riggs announced yesterday that an agreement had been reached with Arthur Elvin, who underwrote the '48 Olympic games in London, to bring the group to England in December.

Pancho Gonzales, Jack Kramer, Frankie Parker and Pancho Segura make up the troupe.

Asks Coaches To Quit Knocking Own Talent

BY STAN OPOTOWSKY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Harvey Harman of Rutgers today called upon his fellow football coaches to throw away their time-honored crying towel and "tell the truth."

"Let's stop knocking our own product," he said.

"No coach can be asked to say his team will win. He only puts himself on the spot if the team loses.

"But any coach can say, 'we've got a good football team. Our line has a couple of weak spots but our backs are fast and I think our passer is excellent. I think we'll be up against it Saturday, though, because our opponents have a better line and a powerful offense."

Such talk is a long way, of course, from the usual coaching laments, such as Frank Leahy's pre-season "fears" that his Notre Dame team would be hard put to win a game in 1949.

Harman thinks it's perfectly fine for a coach to express respect for the opposition, but the coach should not "give the impression that he has a lot of helpless young men who will be lucky to keep their feet during the playing of the national anthem."

"After all," he said, "even a team that loses consistently, if it is a major college team, is composed of highly trained, skilled and talented athletes. If they weren't, they couldn't be playing that intricate and interesting game college football is today, not even on a loser.

"We coaches know better than anyone the number of hours of practice and the natural ability that goes into the making of even an ordinary football player. So let's not gloss over them by saying we have 'no material' when what we actually mean is that someone else's material is better still.

"Of course, we all know the biggest single obstacle to what I advocate.

DOOM PROPHETS

"Coaches have become, in the public eye, such chronic prophets of doom that their slightest expression of hope or satisfaction is taken as an indication of invincible excellence.

"But we can, in time make them understand that 'good' doesn't necessarily mean 'we'll win,' and that 'good' doesn't necessarily mean 'terrific.'"

Charles Risks Heavy Crown Friday Night

SAN FRANCISCO — (UP) — Slim, trim Ezzard Charles, the ebony-hued NBA heavyweight champion, risks his crown for the second time since he won it June 22 when he takes on challenger Pat Valentino here tomorrow night at the San Francisco Cow Palace.

The Cincinnati negro is a 5-1 favorite to retain the title in the 15-round battle—with very little wagering being done, despite the fact that the challenger is a home-town boy.

Charles tipped the scales at 180 pounds today—his best fighting weight—and manager Jake Mintz announced that he was in tip-top shape.

Valentino, 186 pounds and a half-inch shorter than the six-foot Charles, still has his mass of long hair—from which he hopes to get the strength to tag the champion with a kayo punch.

Charles is confident he will win—and Manager Mintz even has been busy lining up future title defenses and exhibitions during the current training period.

No matter how the fight turns out, the chances are that Promoter William P. Kyne will do okay. The battle, which is the first heavyweight championship bout in San Francisco in 40 years, probably will draw a crowd of 15,000 and a gate of $175,000.

Veteran Heath Out At Boston

BOSTON — (AP) — The Boston Braves last night asked waivers on veteran outfielder Jeff Heath "for purposes of giving him his unconditional release."

Heath, because he is a ten-year man is under no compulsion to report to any club who might want to pick him up for the nominal price of one dollar from the Braves.

General manager John Quinn in a telephone conversation with Heath at his Bow, Wash., home, offered him a minor league managing job in the Boston organization. Quinn said he received neither an acceptance nor rejection from the big slugger.
